Editorial...

Dear reader,

Welcome to Australia's first edition of Exposure Magazine. I think that you would probably like to be informed a little about our organisation, our magazine and who are behind it all. Well firstly I actually founded Contact Network International over in Europe a few years ago. C.N.I. is an international network of researchers and interested parties who share information on basically anything that the governments around the globe do not want you to know about. We have been based in The Netherlands for years until a few months ago when I moved back to Australia. Our organisation grew and changed a lot in Europe - so much so that we have recently split and have reformed an even better service for Europe.

C.N.I. has been running Exposure Magazine first in the English language and later we went into Dutch. Now of course only in English. C.N.I. are organisers of major events in Europe - especially UFO - conspiracy conferences. We shall certainly be looking into the organising of similar such events here in Australia. On top of all this we had until recently our own weekly television program based in Amsterdam - Exposure TV which appeared on Wednesday nights. Getting this magazine to print has been a real struggle, we have experienced all kinds of flack. There are others (which we have just learned about) who do not want this magazine to go to print.

In any case we intend to keep publishing not just that hard to get stuff but we wish to include much of what others don't dare to put to print. We here at C.N.I. intend to do our best to serve you and publish the information which should be in your hands - but we can only do this with your help, not just by supporting Exposure Magazine but by supplying that information.

In this edition we have some really great material for your research as well as an article from Bruce Cathie on the Pyramids in China. What is great about this story is that we have the photographs finally which my colleague in Holland supplied to us from German researcher Hartwig Hausdorf. I was greatly impressed when I first laid eyes on them back in March but due to the move back here of course the publication was delayed. I know many have been waiting for these prints to get out - so here they are!

Before I close I would like to thank everybody involved with Exposure Magazine, who have extended their kindness, patience and their efforts to get this magazine put together and out onto the shelves.

David, Editor.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The opinions of authors whose articles are included in Exposure Magazine are not necessarily those of the Publishers. Contact Network International is a group of Independent Researchers and we recognise that the Establishment Media and many other alternative publications do not give you all the facts concerning the world's political, religious, economic, philosophical and spiritual development.

C.N.I. seeks to keep democracy and freedom intact by supplying the public with that 'you must not read or your mind will be poisoned' information concerning our political, scientific, medical and religious institutions, so as to assist humanity in thinking for themselves.

C.N.I. is not linked to any political, religious or philosophical groups, nor has any secret agenda, nor is financed by any outside powers or societies. Using investigative journalism , C.N.I. wishes to expose a Global Deception which we believe is being perpetrated on our planet. We make no excuses or apologies for the lies of the controlled Press, but our guarantee is that C.N.I. will always correct any meaningful error of fact!

INDIA OUTRAGE OVER POLICE TATTOOING

Amritsar, India (AP) The tattooing of the word "Jebkatri," which means "pickpocket," on the foreheads of four women has sparked a national outcry over police brutality. The women say policemen in the northern state of Punjab tattooed their foreheads to settle personal scores.

The police say outraged citizens branded the women after they picked someone's pocket. Although it is not unusual in rural India for petty criminals to be punished by being paraded on the back of a donkey with their faces blackened and wearing a garland of slippers, this is the first time that criminal suspects have been tattooed.

BEHIND MURDOCH

While the Democrats have been in an uproar over Newt Gingrich $4 million book deal with media baron Rupert Murdoch, here's one fact that the Democrats have been careful not to mention: Murdoch owes his entire fortune to the sponsorship of the combined forces of the international financial consortium of the Bronfman, Rothschilds and Oppenheimer families who, along with their protégé, have been dubbed "The Billionaire Gang of Four".

CIA-U.S. GOVERNMENT INTELLIGENCE AGENCIES DEVELOP INTERNET-LINK

Fourteen U.S. government intelligence agencies, led by the Central Intelligence Agency, are developing plans that would allow them to share unclassified information via the Internet. "Everyone is using it [the Internet]," said Paul Wallner, CIA Intelligence Community Open Source co-ordinator, in an exclusive interview with The Internet Letter. "Why not take advantage of it ourselves and use it. We're not looking at the Internet as a way to gather intelligence,"

Wallner said. "The Internet is not viewed as a source of information for us." The agencies that would use Internet to exchange "public" information are part of the National Foreign Intelligence program. They include the National Security Agency, CIA and the Defence Intelligence Agency. The intelligence community will use the Internet to share information and ideas among themselves and the academic community, Wallner said. For example, if the CIA were asked about the nuclear waste problem in Russia, "a good way" to find out would be to talk to the scientific community on the Internet, he said. The system in place now is inadequate. While each agency has its own internal electronic communications network, two intelligence analysts working at different agencies but on the same project cannot send Email to one another.

There also are no electronic links between the intelligence and academic communities. Communication is carried out mostly by telephone. Because of security concerns, the internal community network will not be connected directly to the Internet, Wallner said. The CIA plans to address the issue of security by creating "air gaps" between classified and unclassified information. An air gap would create a physical space between an agency's internal network and an Internet link. "That allows us to have another check on hackers and potential viruses," Wallner said. He characterised the tone of the discussion over security as "technical."

There are three phases to the project, and the first phase is expected to start next spring. It involves establishing nine prototype Internet "nodes" that will connect to an Internet backbone. The CIA plans to seek engineering support from private industry to help design the network's overall architecture. Unclassified materials produced by the Foreign Broadcast Information Service (FBIS) may be available for anonymous FTP (File Transfer Protocol). No decision has been made on whether a Gopher or WAIS (Wide Area Information Server) server will be used, Wallner said. The government is grappling with whether public distribution of FBIS publications via the Internet would violate copyright law.

Selected FBIS publications now are available in print and microfiche to government agencies and universities. FBIS publishes eight daily reports, one for each geographic region of the world. The information is gleaned from news accounts, commentaries and government statements from foreign broadcasts, and it is translated into English from more than 80 languages. Big brother is here and watching. Join Us!

JFK-CASTRO FILES TO BE OPENED

I.D. CARDS NOW OBLIGATORY IN THE NETHERLANDS

From June 1st every citizen above 12 years of age in the Netherlands must carry a new type of I.D. card on their person. If you need to do the following things such as get a job, register at the employment office, get money from a bank, make a Will, receive dole, go to work, drive your car, go shopping, get an education plus much much more... you must first prove you are who you say you are! The I.D. card which is 10.5 x 7.5 cm costs *f*26.25 guilders (about $20.00) and will have your name , address, nationality, photograph, birthdate, card I.D. number and tax file number registered on it. The card is valid until January 1st 1995 when the new European I.D. card will be introduced.

The public who will probably accept this have been told that they have no choice in this matter and no democratic referendums have been held to date. The options are simple according to the booklet available at all post offices nation-wide: "If you cannot identify yourself then you are as of June 1st 1995 in many cases punishable by law. An you will not be able to do or get what you want! In short it will be easier for you just to take the I.D. card and keep it in your pocket."

Under these statements in the brochure is the following... Normally the Police may hold someone for 6 hours if they cannot identify themselves. As of June 1st the police may hold a person in custody for 12 hours if one cannot produce their I.D. card. Source:

"And it puts under compulsion all persons, the small and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free and the slave, that they should give these a mark upon their right hand or upon their forehead, and that nobody might be able to buy or sell except a person having the mark, the name of the wild beast or the number of it's name. Here is where wisdom comes in: Let the one that has intelligence calculate the number of the wild beast, for it is a man's number; and it's number is six hundred and sixty six". UFO ABDUCTION ARCHIVES NOW OPEN

The National Archives of Canada holds thousands of UFO and abduction reports collected by the National Research Council of Canada since the 1960s, relating to observations made as early as the 1930s. These files, numbering approximately 100 per year are provided by the police and the staff of the federal departments of National Defence (since the 1940s), Communications and of Transport.

The microfilmed archival records date back to Military Intelligence sightings during the period of 1947-1964 to more recent communications reports dating 1965-1981 (micro-filmed) and 1982-1988 (not on microfilm and examineable only at the Archives) and some are available for research purposes and may be purchased, borrowed or obtained by inter-library loan.

Current files (1 year) are generally available on demand by appointment directly from the National Research Council subject to respecting the confidentiality and privacy of names reported. Archived files may take about 30 days to obtain as they have to be "opened" by censoring names of individuals. A list of already opened files may be obtained upon request. Recent sightings include this September 3rd, 1993 report: "a blue ball, very clear and condensed" and a "second larger and brighter light" which permitted a stereo to keep playing in a witness' home despite a power blackout and which knocked out Hull Québec (population 60,000) police RF as well as computers on patrol cars. Due to uneven reporting standards, it is generally difficult to conduct systematic analysis of the information collected over the years.

GREENHOUSE HOAX EXPOSED

Finally the establishment media is trying to tell the truth concerning the fake greenhouse effect. Yes the facts have surfaced. An excellent documentary was broadcast recently on Belgium TV, showed how the "facts, cause and Scientific data" to support the greenhouse theory have collapsed. Remember 15 years ago we were told that we would have another ice-age, now were told that we will cook to death - Bull....!

Scientists told how they have lied to us and have been manipulating our opinion under the instructions of Multinational Corporations so as to receive government grants and to keep these companies in business. Admissions were made why and who is behind these lies. Like most media information this was made public long after William Cooper's Wembley Arena speech on the fake ozone holes. Now it has been made public on the Establishment TV you are now allowed to believe it.

CLINTON: OSWALD WORKED ALONE

Washington: The American president Bill Clinton announced on the anniversary of the assassination of John Kennedy, which is now thirty years ago that "I believe that Lee Harvey Oswald murdered president Kennedy, and worked alone". HIGH-TECH SPYING

Michael Frost, a former specialist with Canada's government spy agency, the Communications Security Establishment, has disclosed that the U.S. National Security Agency implanted tiny microphones in the chests of pigeons that roosted on the window ledges of the Soviet Embassy in Washington D.C., and monitored the conversations of the officials inside. Source The Spotlight.

AMERICA'S NATIONAL DEBT OF OVER 18.3 TRILLION DOLLARS

Just how much is a trillion? The figure is often used in disscussions of the debt, but it remains incomprehen- sible. Here are some examples:

First of all, take a $1,000 bill out of your pocket and lay it on the table. Now get 999 more bills just like it and pile them on top of one another. Your pile will be about 11 cm high. That's $1 million.

Now you get 999 more piles like that one and pile them on top of one another. Your pile is now 110 meters high, as tall as a 40 story building or twice as high as Niagara Falls. You now have $1 billion, or 1 million $1,000 bills.

Now get 999 more piles like that one, put them on top of each other and then you'll have a pile 110 km high. That's a trillion, 1 billion $1,000 bills.

Here's another way of looking at it. If you were to count to 13 trillion, at the rate of one per second, it would take you 411,945 years to finish. If your budget allowed you to spend a million dollars a day, it would take you 13 million days, or 35,582 years, to spend your fortune of $13 trillion.

If you had a ribbon 1 trillion miles in length, you could wrap it around the world 40 million 273 thousand, 862 times with some left over for your Christmas gifts. If you were to attach the ribbon to the Moon, 227,000 miles from Earth at its centre, you could stretch it back and forth 33,562 times and still go half way back to the Moon again.

If you had a trillion dollars, you could buy 10 million homes at 100,000 each. The Total U.S. debt of 18.3 trillion, divided by the populat- ion of the U.S.- 254,521,000- equals per person a debt of $7,189.98 for every man, woman and child. A trillion here, a trillion there and soon your talking real money.

C.N.I. 'ALTERNATIVES 94' HUGE SUCCESS

*Just how much do we really know about UFOs? *Crop Circles - the facts they never told us! *Alien messages to humanity? *Pyramids and a face on Mars - what NASA is keeping secret! *The New World Order & it's origins. *Anti-gravity flying saucers & free energy technology! *Atlantis & the mysteries of Lumuria. *Government cover-ups secret societies & conspiracies. *Lost cities & ancient technology. *The unknown facts and truth about the JFK assassination and WACO Texas. *The benefits of being aware of the facts. *How to put this knowledge to good use & much, much more...! These were just some of the topics presented at the last 'C.N.I. Nexus ALTERNATIVES 94' conference organized by Contact Network International and held on October 22nd at the luxurious hotel Krasnapolsky in the heart of the Dutch capital Amsterdam.

Six international speakers held around 900 people in awe for more than 12 hours, at the largest international conference ever held on the European continent while the cold hard facts about each of the above 'can of worms' was opened. The conference, organized and sponsored by Contact Network International's Exposure Magazine turned the press upsidedown as each speaker revealed secrets which until these last years have remained hidden from public view.

David Percy co-producer of the film 'Hoaglands Mars' and co-author of the best selling book 'Two Thirds' exposed the real terrestrial connection of the face and pyramids on the red planet and the connection with the world grid and southern England.

Prof. John R.R. Searl explained the advantages of free energy and anti-gravity devices and why these technologies are still being denied production by the world's multinational companies. A global conspiracy already underway. George Wingfield held the floor as the latest details about crop circles, hoaxing and the micro-wave connection were released. The UFO connection was supported with the recent 1994 film clip of a ball of energy flying above a crop formation in southern England film by Dutchman Foeke Kootje. Survival after death was next on the agenda with Michael Roll, the former real-estate agent from Bristol who now leads the Campaign for Philosophical Freedom. Michael explained the 'Scientific Proof of Life after Death and the Mathematical Backing'. David M. Summers exposed his speciality 'Moongate' and many of NASA's fake photos of the moon and obscure objects on it's surface. His lecture was topped with the American flag waving in the wind on the 'Moon' to our sleepy humanity. The connection with secret societies and the New World Order was exposed and how we can get on top of this conspiracy by taking action ourselves, being involved and the distribution of the facts via networking internationally.

The truth about Waco Texas was shown in living colour on the 9 x 6 meter video screen. The U.S. Governments flame throwing tanks lite the fire of outrage in the hearts of the audience as well as made the press finally admit previous censorship and then defeat by showing the film material on the national TV program 'Tijdsein' to 15 million people. This is the same film Linda Thompson produced Waco: The Big Lie, yes the very same material which 'A Current Affair' refused to broadcast claiming to C.N.I. that the material has been 'doctored'. (To bad the Dutch got in first on this one Channel Nine.-Ed)

David H. Childress proved beyond any reasonable doubt that the mysteries of Atlantis and Lumuria are not figments of some wild imagination but rather were highly developed technological societies which would bring much heartache to our world leaders for being so slow to catch on. David also exposed the NASA cover-up concerning Mars and the Moon.

At the end of the day a panel discussion was held where British author and former BBC television presenter David Icke showed many ways in which to develop the courage to stand up against international conspiracy as well as how to evolve and grow spiritually. David's latest book 'The Robots Rebellion' was released for the first time on the European continent. During the conference a questionnaire was distributed with reference to finding out what Exposure readers think and want. The results of the census were very very encouraging, but concerning the Press, downright insightful. Question: How has the Media treated this conference & the subjects presented?

Good: 0% Reasonable: 18%
Bad: 25% Totally deceitful, Manipulative etc.: 54% No opinion: 3%

Moongate / Freemasonry

Dear David,

I would like to know what the Knights Templar is and what is Freemasonry? Also I would like information about Global 2000 and the Grey aliens.

I have tried to talk to some people from the Ashtar Command, but I think they have a screw loose. They try to scare people into believing that Ashtar is the only way to survive. When you have a different opinion they become very hostile and aggressive! I also asked what "Moongate" is, and was told that it is a space harbour where alien ships dock. I have heard much more credible information from other sources.

I was also told that an enormous asteroid with Reptile like humanoids is coming here and are going to take over the earth and eat mankind. What do you think of this? I am sorry for any mistakes in my English!

Kind regards,
name & address withheld by Ed!

Dear Sir,

Thank you for your questions as they are very relevant and current. As to Freemasonry and the Knights Templar, we will be publishing more on these in the near future. I suggest you read the article in this edition 'Occult Roots of the NWO'.

As to Moongate; this is the secret NASA black project where it is believed that there is an atmosphere on the Moon and water & oxygen in the soil. This was mentioned on the TV show Beyond Tomorrow last month. NASA is lying about the true origins of the Moon. Moongate is not some sort of space harbour bridge for landing craft. It is called Moongate as it is a scandal like Watergate, Irangate etc!

And with Ashtar and his followers, I suggest you find out what the party line is of any group before you join one. Fear tactics are the sign of many groups within the world of religion as well as in the small splinter cults.

WHAT IS THE PARTY LINE? The Global 2000 report, (the real one) is distributed by C.N.I. Ed!

Exposure TV

Dear Sir,

my name is R.L. and I would like very much to react on your television show Exposure TV. In one word I can say that I find it SUPER what C.N.I. has been doing. I wait anxiously each Wednesday for your program to be aired. I would like to know what has happened to the programme? I cannot write much more in this letter due to censorship and I realise that you understand this.

Kind regards,
R.L. 2 / East Cell 37. Amsterdam,

Dear RL.

Thank you for your kind words and support! Point taken as to your position and we hope that your situation improves soon. At this moment we are renegotiating our time slot due to my move to Australia. - Ed!

Talkin' About A Revolution!

Dear David,

For me the question is: How serious do you believe the New World Order threat is? I can only let you know my feelings. I think that the greatest threat is Capitalism from the Banks and the Big Insurance Companies as well as other financial power brokers.

Let us not forget the corrupt Ministers, Secretaries of States, Ministers of Parliaments etc. Should we vote? The masses are economically manipulated so much so that they don't dare to open their mouths about it. The people are so afraid that they are confused as to what to do about this! Squatters in Amsterdam have met many times to get organized only to be met by police battons and be arrested.

Just like the student protests of May 8th, 1993 where many students were intimidated and heavily beaten. The Economy has the public by the throat. And the Political and business worlds have ceased to function properly. There will be revolution in this country I feel and if it does not occur, will we be like robots and slaves as described in Orwells 1984?

I appreciate your reply, with friendly greetings. J.A. de Blok, Amsterdam, Holland.

Dear J.A. de Blok,

Yes we do take the information concerning the New World Order seriously as the information and plans which have been made, come over many years from the archives of the Elite. I agree that the Banks control the people and this is due to the way we are trained to think and feel about money in our western society.

Democracy needs to be cleaned out in many countries, but if a revolution is the answer, I do not know. Most revolutions might start out with a good purpose but often lead to violence and bloodshed. There are many alternatives to this system and that is why we publish Exposure Magazine with the intent of not just waking the sheeple up but to also help them think of alternatives. There is a poem by Nasuska which I remember when the system gets me down and it goes something like this:

If you dare to be different and do not join the crowd.
If they laugh at your honesty and taunt you if your proud.
If they speak of you in whispers and push you to be like them.
Do not fear them but forgive them,
Because they are more afraid that you! - Ed!

GOOD LUCK

Dear Tony & David,

Just a note to say thank you for the flyer that you sent to me in the mail. Further to our phone conversation, I would like to express my appreciation for the work that you guys have been doing. It is of great benefit to people like me to have this sort of information in my life.

Although some people complain that conspiracy information is negative, I have found out that by being informed puts me a step ahead of the rest of society in this day and age, and the truth has set me free. It is great to see that Australia now has a new magazine dealing on these hard core issues. Keep it up and I wish you the best of luck.

A. Horner, Melbourne.

Dear Mr. Horner,

Thanks for the encouragement! We believe that it is imperative that the public

"AIDS CREATED"

Dear David,

It is much interest that I watched Exposure TV a few months ago. Among the issues you treated, one especially drew my attention.

You mentioned that Dr. Robert B. Strecker has proven that AIDS is a man-made disease and that it had been invented in the laboratories of the U.S. Dept. of defence! Having lost my partner to AIDS five years ago, I am also a supporter of this idea.

In the Rajneesh Press (a newspaper that is edited by members of the Bhagwan/Osho cult) appeared in 1989 a feature article dealing with this theory. For that matter, however I am no follower of the Osho Cult, but I copied the article and mailed it to many organizations around the world, offering assistance to AIDS patients.

You may guess how many replies I received back-that's right - NONE! Anyway I wish you lots of success with your pioneering work.

Yours truly,
Herman Nimis, Address withheld..

Dear Herman,

I feel it is good that you use all sources in your research, even if it means using stuff from groups you don't like. I find that each and every group has their positives as well as negatives. I personally like to look into anything that others say you should not look into.

Usually I find with any group or person who says that you should not look at this or that, then they often have something to hide and/or interests to protect. Ed!

FREEMASONS- BEAM WEAPONS & GLOBAL 2000

Dear David,

I received the Global 2000 Executive Intelligence Review; thank you very much. As usual with the EIR they only tell you one side of the coin, i.e. the Judeo - Masonic / Church of England / British Empire cabal, and very conveniently point the reader towards a pro-Vatican bias.

Then there are those who expose the P2 Masonry and its ties to the Vatican and point the reader towards the British Masonry's supposed isolation from Continental Freemasonry. This is another ruse.

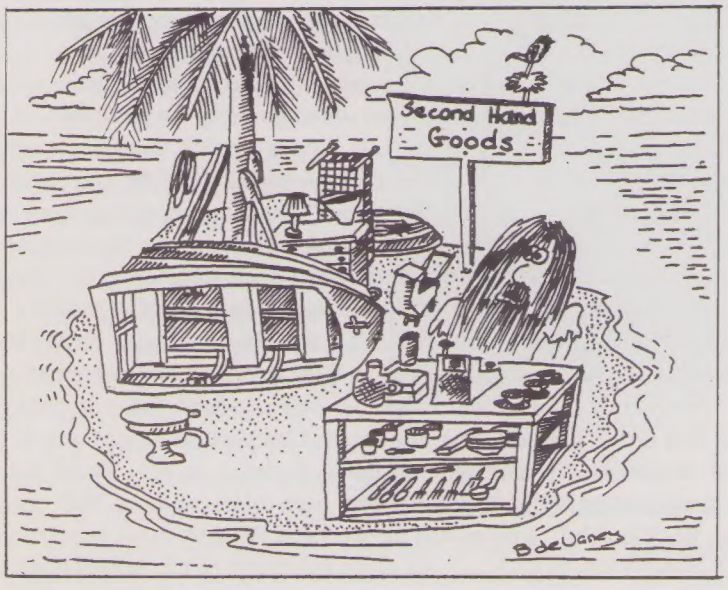
You might find well worth while obtaining the following book "English Masonic Isolation - A Myth Exploded" by P.J. Keith. Published by Angles News Service "Troth House," 56 Crogsland Road London N.W.1. which, although written from a Catholic point of view, does show that British Freemasonry has always had ties with the Continental Lodges.

This is how the hierarchy of British Freemasonry manage to manipulate their unsuspecting members. Divide and conquer. But, as with mathematics, you can reduce everything to a common denominator. And there is one, despite what you are led to believe.

I would call the unholy alliance, the "Judeo - Masonic - Vatican -Trilateral CABEL. That is the common denominator. This British Empire versus the Vatican is the ultimate ruse. They are ALL in it together now and the "unholy alliance" has been forged for quite a few years. I enclose the following on the Great Pyramid, which was a preview of a documentary shown on BBC 2 TV recently. You know, they are trying to convince the unsuspecting and gullible that the Egyptian Pharoes built those pyramids so that they, quote..."Correctly align the passages in the King's and Queen's chambers toward a particular Star, then project their soul through that passage towards that Star so that they would become that Star and become a god.." Does this remind you of something? Anyway, what they are doing is "talking to each other" whilst trying to make people believe that the Egyptians had knowledge of Creation....bullshit!!!

The Great Pyramid is one huge psychotronic generator and the passages from the King's and Queen's chambers are correctly aligned towards the (then) positions of Sirius and Orion so that the Pharoes obtained a psychic/mental link to those Stars during their religious ceremonies. They used cannabis (the name means the Dog Star, i.e. Sirius) during these ceremonies and must have communicated psychically with whatever. Hitler sent an expedition to the Great Pyramid (as did Napoleon) and that is how he obtained knowledge about psychotronics. Which were developed in NAZI Germany. Keep in touch.

Best wishes,
Mary Seal, Walsall, England U.K.



Dear Mary,

I find your conclusions on these subjects really a lot of food for thought.

Bruce L. Cathie who wrote much on the Earth grid tells in his book "Harmonic 33" similar things about the positioning of the Great Pyramid in relation to Sirius. Ed!

The Occult Roots Of The "New World Order"

Conspiracies, Secret Societies & Political Power!

When the whole world seems to be driven to an age of uncertainty, the man on the street tries invain to decode the keys of his future.

What was Bush declaring to us when speaking with insistence about a "New International Order"?

Why does it appear that behind all of this exists a mysterious & ancient conspiracy?

By Enrique De Vicente translated from Spanish & adapted by Ananda

Reprinted from Exposure Magazine Vol 1 no 2, 1993 European Edition & Vortexijaii Magazine with permission.

Some questions may seem stupid. But there are people who see through the acceleration - providing that the international events follow one another - a master game orchestrated by invisible hands: the development of a blueprint with an aim to institute a 'World Government', controlled by certain groups that would manage the secret societies, the high finances and the politics.

All of this, plus the constitution of a 'super-church' or a sacred religion - according to the Fundamentalists - would be the big means used by the Anti-Christ to establish his reign on Earth.

The most remarkable scientific researchers - according to the rumours - have detected that the principal thematics from some of themselves have not been subject to deterioration since the Middle Ages - because their contents are archetypal - and now, they link together in the suspicion of a diabolical international plot that would threaten the most precious values of the individual. The 'plot group' is supported by diverse specialized daily publications - most of them are English speaking - furthermore, by hundreds of books. The invasion also includes the literature, giving rise to such best-sellers like 'Foucault's Pendulum'.

The Big Plot, Motor Of The History

After hundreds of hours of reading, investigations, conversations and reflections, a multitude of fascinating facts are emerging, beyond all doubts. A peripheral and fundamentalist vision of it lays oneself open to apply for the 'diabolic causality', a simplified and dualistic hypothesis which explains history almost exclusively in terms of a plot. For those who support that interpretation, all arguments or evidence opposite to their reasoning only demonstrates the ability of the masters of the game: the supreme deceit of evil is to make one believe it does not exist.

We will remember that several politicians attached to secret societies an other leaders of the same secret societies, have stated publicly the existence of invisible rulers. In England itself - the 'Perfidious Albion' which usually considers itself epicentre of the 'Conspiracy' Benjamin Disraeli talked about the 'big occult power', which Churchill called "the beast with no face". Such denunciations from those two Prime Ministers initiated in secret societies, could be due to the fact that they caught a glimpse of a superior force, of which they had been themselves the pawns or the victims. But perhaps, the reason is more simple. In the early twenties, Nebstra Webster denounced in many best-sellers that the Jewish, relying on the support of secret societies and international bankers, led the revolutionary movements.

The 'Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion' - which today is considered by historians as a clever political deal, and by the Conspirators as a prophetic program of 'world domination' - has captured the conscience minds. Those anti-semitic theories were accepted by the European high class and by the conservative politicians like Churchill, who quoted the works of Webster in his attacks against the leftists. It induced him to give lectures about the theme of the Armed Forces and the Intelligence Services, before he himself became affiliated to the Fascist Party.

Incidently, what very few people know is that Webster believed she was the reincarnation of a Countess guillotined during the French Revolution and she considered her present mission was meant for denouncing those who would have favoured it. It is just after the Revolution of 1789 that diverse authors, as an immediate reaction to it, had developed the theory of a big plot.

We will try to make out, through a quick historical revision, what is mythical and what is real in this framework. We will concentrate today in the route which leads from France to the Americas.

Esotericism & Initiatic Societies

If the conspirators situate the origin of the conspiracy against the church and the French monarchy, at the downfall of the Knights Templars, they probably are not mistaken. But the interpretation of the facts can be very different depending on the point of view one takes.

In the Order of the Temple, it appears that the influences of various occidental and Muslim esoteric movements are linked together. The esotericism is the secret knowledge contained in the religious trends from Antiquity, reserved for those who find themselves qualified enough to gain access to it, and who belong to a tradition coming from supra-human origins. It claims to help us to surpass the limits of our condition and then, to access superior states of mind and comprehension, thanks to the teachings and the rituals of initiation which would mobilize the dark forces latent in all of us. It is transmitted from master to disciple, and it uses the initiated organizations as a principal medium. The esotericism supports the existence of an invisible supreme centre of spiritual and material power, keeper of the Sacred Tradition, which is identified by either symbols or different numbers the most famous of them is Shamballa or the Pure Land, where the 'King of the World' would have his headquarters. It is supposed to be from his place that the destiny of mankind would be directed, very subtly influencing the events and the movements of all kinds, through diverse individuals and other secret societies.

The Knight Templars would have been one of those organisations, whose influence attempted to decisively mark History. Not only did they convert themselves into the first bankers of the West, using their own navy fleet for trade and transport of passengers, but they also prepared a kind of 'European Confederated State'.

Taking advantage of the weakening big political power of his knights, Philip IV The Beautiful - who was irremediably in debt with the Order - led his Great Master, Jacques De Molay, into a trap, counting on the collaboration of Pope Clement V.

In fact after a strange process De Molay was burned in Paris, summoned to appear to the Court of God in front of the King and the Pontiff, within a period of time they were both going to die. Before dying, De Molay appointed his successor, and asked him to reorganize the Order in secrecy. In many European reigns the Templers transformed themselves, whether they became integrated into other order of the Knighthood, or set op underground nucleus. Some of the supported Robert Bruce in the conquest of Scotland, remaining his loyal successors, being faithful to the Jacobian cause of the Estuardo family.

At that time, they successively gave way to The Order of San Andres del Cardo, and to The Invisible College - including its prior transformation into the Real Society of British Sciences - that spread out the first Rosicrucian manifesto which shook Europe by reporting the existence of a secret society whch claims to reform mankind due to the progress of the Sciences.

Supposedly attached to this Rosicrucian movement are some of the precursors of Experimental Science, especially Francis Bacon, the Chancellor of England, founder of the Scientific Method, cryptologist, a genius encyclopedist and the presumed author of the works attributed to Shakespeare. His father is the chief of the British branch of the family to which the last Great Master Templer belonged to - the Bacon's house is called The Temple. Within its utopia, 'The New Atlantis' exposes its vision of the ideal society, where the power is exercised by a secret society, The Temple of Solomom, run by three Superior Srangers. The 'Brothers' study the sciences in secrecy, deciding which knowledge was to be divulged and which parts they felt convenient to keep secret, acting like an "Invisible Government". The ideals contained in the latter coincided with the message and will inspire Scottish Masonry.

THE SECRET SOCIETIES HAVE ORCHESTRATED THE REVOLUTIONS OF THE LAST

It is no surprise hat the other big utopia of that age was called 'The City of the Sun', which was also used by the Rosicrucian members as a name to designate their brotherhood in their letters - the presumed foundation of this having ocured in 1604, just two years after Campanella would write his work. Neither would it be surprising to know that virtually all of the authors of big utopias would be initiated into several secret societies. Based on the ideas of Bacon and Campanella, the institution of a new education was esablished, the Rosacruz Comenius, which UNESCO considers to be its precursor, the same goes for structuralism and encyclopaedism. Friends of Descartes - another presumed Rosicrucian - they proposed as an aim, the unification of knowledge and the universality of its propagation under the control of an academy of wise men, the creation of a parliament and of three other international institutions which would end mankind's evil.

The Luciferian Legend

As with the Rosicrucian Brotherhood, Freemasonry also converged together with the Templar's tradition, as well as other traditions coming from Antiquity; its partisans having survived the persecutions of Christianity, standing out from the aristocratic families and from certain hermetic orders.

Their ultimate aim was to reach individual immortality for the creation of a 'Corps of Coagulated Consciousness', due to the external alchemy and the internal one, which grants to the sexual union a sacred character. Their public demonstrations are not much and were covered-up by the Roman Academy, as they expanded in England through the Baconian Society, yet they became established in America and in France through the 'Clubs of Smokers' or Nicotinians.

The historians uphold that speculative Masonry emerged from the guilds of constructors who built the Gothic Cathedrals, by admitting the affiliation of strangers to their office, which converted them into a refuge of hermetists. Their political ideas were very advanced, they practised mutual aid and predicted democracy and individual rights in the Middle Ages. geometry was for the most important science, as they believed it was taught by the patriarch Lamek to one of his sons, the other two sons were caster and mason. Informed by Yahweh [YHWH] of the Deluge, they preserved their knowledge in a boundery by Hermes Trismegistus, whose teachings came to Europe through the Arabs.

The initiates believe that the human heart is the Holy Earth where one should raise and increase the Temple of God. Some of them would consider the reformation of mankind as their own duty. This determination, initiated by Templers and Roscrucians, pushed Masonry into the political arena in 1723, just following the partial inclusion of the English lodges of the ritual of death by Hiram Abbif, which connects with the Luciferian tradition of the rebellious angels and with Hindu Tantrism.

According to this late legend, the origins of Masonry dated back to the construction of the temple of King Solomon, who contracted the services of the master Hiram, who was in charge, in Tiro, of the construction of temples for the High Goddess of Fertility, whose cult remarkably influenced the primitive Judaism, by being perpetuated through the secret or cabbalistic teachings, and whose goddess, Solomon himself worshipped in secrecy. The original tradition, coming from the blacksmiths, stated that Hiram was its founder and that his ancestor Cain appeared to him, explaining his pathetic story: Adam was created by Adonai, one of the two gods who shared out the universe, and he was converted into other god Iblis, gave him intelligence, he became the unified to Eve and beget Cain, for who Adam and Adonai only felt contempt, in spite of this, Cain dedicated his creative intelligence to improve the living conditions of his family, so far so that one day he rebeled against Abel - his brother - and killed him.

Cain the explains to Hiram that the Queen of Sheba belongs to his lineage and that she is destined to him. Hiram secretly married her, before being stabbed by three companions.

Instigator Of The Revolution

This tradition was propelled into France by the Scottish Ramsay, private tutor of the House of Bouillon and of the son of Jacob II Estuardo, families around whom have been perpetuated the Templer tradition. This English king founded the Order of the Masters of San Andres, one of its members was to create the Strict Templar Observance, organisation which is under the enigmatic authority of the Superior Strangers, and which controled German Masonry. Being fed by the blueprint of the latter, the Bavarian Illuminati became organized in concentric circles, in this way making sure of its impenetrability, whose hierarchy would be copied by the majority of the political secret societies.

Conducted by Adam Weishaupt, who has been inspired by a mysterious personage initiated in Egypt, they tempted to infiltrate all of the European courts and to influence the public opinion, in order to establish an invisible world government. Their influence was observed within the charcoal burners, the utopian socialists and Prime international. The inner dissensions and the denunciations of some Freemasons, apparently provoked the dissolution of this Order, whose founder ran away. Then, the rumour began to spread out that the Templer Masonry brotherhood suggested to revenge the killing of De Molay and to overthrow the European political structures, making sure the Illuminati carry on their plan in the dark, recruiting some of the leaders of the French Revolution.

According to the conspirators, relying on the support of certain financiers, of enemy governments, Illuminati-Freemasons like Mirabeau, Lafayette and the Duke of Orleans, a liberal monarchy was rising, led by the latter, who was the King's cousin, and probably used for his own ends the myth of the Templer's revenge. When Louis XVI was guillotined, someone splashed the gathering with his blood, blessing them in the name of Jacques De Molay and of freedom. His son, 22nd successor of Philip The Beautiful, apparently died in the tower of the Temple, where the 22nd Great Master of the Templers had been tortured.

Although the results, undeniably, are that a good part of the leaders and the beneficiaries of the Revolution were Masons, and that the lodges contributed to create a climate favourable to them - including members within the Army - the aristocrats also abounded in those lodges and no other guild ever brought so many heads to the guillotine, so much so that the historians today rule out their organic participation to the latter, forgetting that it is impossible to speak about Masonry as a gathering of interests.

Adam Weishaupt father of the Bavarian Illuminati

With Napoleon, whose principal collaborators and relatives were controlling Masonry, the military lodges poured out the liberal ideas through Europe, but also a lot of their most passionate enemies were Masons. Several secret societies have participated to this downfall, like the one of the Charcoal (Carbonario), whose roots we find in certain medieval corporate bodies who bore the Templar's flag. They promoted a political agitation in France and in Spain, preparing the unification of Italy. The Masons have been its Artisan, Cavour, Garibaldi and Mazzini, founder of the movement 'Young Europe' and of the P-1 lodge, associated himself to the southern American General A. Pike, one of the most recognized authorities of Scotish Masonry.

Carbonario was the inspirer of different political secret societies, Buonarrotti, who was known as the "Patriarch of all conspiracies", maintained during all of his life an unshakeable loyalty to his condition of being an initiate and he was a profound believer. Together with Babeuf, he developed an inexhaustible labour to succeed the social egalitarianism, which decisively influenced the socialists Blanqui, Proudhon, Raspail, Elie, Elisee and Recls, all of them masons. His plans te extend the Revolution through all Europe were discovered "by accident" by the Austrian police. It is stated that the spirit of the Illuminati survived through different revolutionary societies, like The League of Just Men, which in 1848 transformed into The Communist League, to which Marx became united.

Strange Founders

In the meantime, the conspirators spread abroad to America. supposedly having been visited by the Templer's navigators, who referred to it as a 'Secretum Templi'.

In Portugal, these transformed into the Order of the Christ, to which it is affirmed that Columbus's father in law belonged - it is in this manner, with maps, that Columbus related his travels towards what he considered to be the New Jerusalem, an idea which is shared by some other Jews and Christians. Bacon, who led the British colonization of the New World, was convinced that he would realise his utopia through it. Some of the firts colonists were relatives of Bacon. In 1694, J. Kelpius settled down in Pennsylvania. He was an active occultist from Germany, united to a group of partisans convinced that the Second Coming of Christ was imminent.

Internationalist & elitist David Rockefeller

For then, the Masonic lodges of the Templer's ascension, would have a considerable influence over there and they would play an active role in American Independence. It also was so for Benjamin Franklin, Great Master of the lodge of San Juan and of the Nine Sisters, to which the two revolutionaries Danton and Lafayette also belonged. His diplomatic negotiations to avoid the insurrection of the colonies led him to a relationship with Sir Francias Dashwood, Chancellor of British Treasury and founder of the well-known 'Club of Hell's Fire', to which were joined Franklin, the mayor of London, the son of the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Prince of Wales. According the insistent rumours, the members of the club give themselves over to sexual orgies and to presumed satanic rituals. One of them confessed that they practice the mysterious Eleusis and the veneration of the Goddess Mother, which formerly always ended in bachanalian (drunken dance).

The Masons are 53 from 56 signatories of the Declaration of American Independence, and 17 of its presidents beginning with Washington, and some Masonic principles are reflected in the Constitution of this country. The publication of a book that makes the Illuminati guilty of the French Revolution gave rise to an arduous controversy and to some hard political attacks, creating a strong discomfort that decimate the lodges.

The final drawing of the Great Seal of the nation was the work of the Secretary of Congress, Charles Thomson, member of the American Society of Philosophy, founded by Franklin and other Masons following the Rosicrucan model of the Invisible College.

Lincoln & Sexual Magic

The family of the second president, John Adams, belonged to the secret society of the Dragons, that took its name from the energy lines covering the Earth [magnetic ley lines], which the ancient cults attempted to reinstigate in the times of Isabel I and Jacob I. They considered the heir of the latter as a reincarnation of King Arthur, who recommended an utopian society ruled by spiritual principles. When the Prince died, some of the Dragons tempted to give concrete expression to his ideal in America, retreating like puritans. An expert in the sacred geometry, John Adams supported the political ideas of Washington, fundamental in esoteric conceptions of which the drawing of the capital is the fruit. he abandoned, therefore, his geopolitical conceptions for practical motives, but when Adams reached the Presidency he supported the creation of a network of communications that would connect together the principal cities to the capital. His plan was rejected by Congress, his son J. Quincey Adams would also fail in his attempt, and his conservative, ecological and labour ideas were attacked by a calition formed by industrials and proslavers.

The occult and spiritual ideas of Lincoln decisively influenced his abolitionist crusade and his murder was attributed, by some people, to the struggles between different secret societies. One of his intimate friends, P.B. Randolph, affirmed he was initiated into sexual magic in the Middle East and created the Brotherhood of Eulis. He revealed that the transmutation of sexual energy was the secret of the primitive Rosicrucians, hidden behind the alchemical symbolism. Lincoln was opposed to Blavatsky and the Theosophists.

He would die mysteriously, a death that some people attributed to the fact that he had been unduly divulging certain secrets. It was known that he was holding a high rank in the Hermetic Broherhood of Luxor or of the Light, one of the most influent and mysterious initiatic societies, of which papus, the big diffuser of modern occultism, was an active agent. The mission of his brotherhood consisted of channeling the flood of materialism, by transmitting to the Rosicrucian centres, the order to base its propaganda on the Sciences.

THE ROBOTS' REBELLION – The Story of the Spiritual Renaissance

David Icke

Who really controls the world and everyone's daily lives?

Who is behind the manipulation of the world economic system, environmental destruction and the cynical provision of drugs to the young? Who is to blame for the suppression of spiritual knowledge and the engineering of wars and conflict across the globe? Is there a massive cover-up about the activities of UFOs and extra-terrestrials on earth? David Icke has the answers. And, in The Robots' Rebellion, one of the most controversial and challenging books of modern times, he is not afraid to point the finger.

All these things and more, he says, are controlled by a sinister network of secret societies which are themselves manipulated by a tiny elite pledged to a long-term plan for world domination.

Icke names names. Unseen power-brokers working behind the scenes exert control, he claims, through such influential bodies as the United Nations, groupings of 'think tanks' mostly set up by the Rockefeller and Rothschild empires – the secret Bilderberg Group, the Trilateral Commission, the Council on Foreign Relations – and, in Britain, the Royal Institute for International Affairs, also known as Chatham House. Nothing of world importance happens by accident, says Icke – from the engineering and funding of world wars to the murders of such inspiring figures as John and Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King and John Lennon. Today, secret forces are even more damagingly at work controlling the world market in drugs in what Icke describes, emotionally, as 'a war on the young'. "That's because a screwed-up, drugged-up young generation will be much easier to control."

But, in the end, Icke's shocking exposé is balanced by an upbeat conclusion in which he outlines practical ways in which ordinary people can rise up and take control of their own destiny.

The robots can and must rebel, he says. The result will be a Spiritual Renaissance, free from both religious and scientific dogma and based on mutual respect, creativity and love.

The Secret Destiny Of America

It is sure that F.D. Roosevelt, who socialized the American politics with his 'New Deal', was a member of the Ancient Arab Order of Nobles and Mystics, which claimed to be connected with the Illuminati. It was Roosevelt who, in 1935, ordered that the face of the great seal should be printed on the one dollar bill, inpired by the Vice President Henry Wallace, a 33 degree Mason like him, and occultist convinced that a big spiritual awakening was going to happen in America. This one received the idea from his master, Nicholas Roerih, the only contemporary Westerner that is known of having visited Shamballa. In a letter addressed to Roerich, wallace affirms: "The quest for potentialites of the era to come is the only aim of supreme value." When Wallace stood as a candidate in the election, his enemies discredited him using copies of his correspondence.

Lincoln was known for holding a high rank in the Hermetic Broherhood of Luxor

Manly P, hall, 33 degree Mason and one of the most respected occult authorities, supplies us a fundamental key in his book 'The Secret Destiny of America': "During more then 300 years secret societies have worked to establish an enlightened democracy... All of them still exist like the "Order of the Search". The members of this one, on oath to work for this cause, decided that they should plant the roots of a new form of life in the American colonies", in the XVIIth century. To this belonged Franklin and other revolutionairies 'receiving aid from a secret European organisation that helped them to establish this country for a purpose only known by very few of the initiates' and that would have been recorded in the two faces of the Great Seal. Let us analyse them.

The Keys Of The Great Seal Of The United States Of America

The 13 is repeated seven times: it is the number of the letters that composed the legend on the back side, number of flitches, of leaves in the olive-tree, of stars, of vertical dashes in the shield. It represents the 13 states that signed the Constitution, but this does not invalidate the magic symbolism of the 13 and the 7. (See Figure 1 & 2).

On the face there is an eagle, the sun symbol of the Egyptian initiation. He has nine feathers in his tale, that according to Hall, would represent 'the nine beings from the most inner circle of illuminism in the Great White Brotherhood or Illuminati', but it is more plausible that it refers to the nine degrees of the Masonic rituals of York. His wings show 32 and 33 feathers respectively, in reference to the 32 degrees of the Scottish Ritual and to the honorary 33rd. In his claws he holds up a bunch of arrows and an olive branch, which represents the dualism of the forces in conflict: war-peace, good-bad, light-dark, masculine-feminine. In his mouth there is a parchment with the sentence 'E pluribus unum' (One out of many), refering to the integration of the colonies blending into one nation, but also referring to what the ancient initiates believed - that all the gods are only one. On the reverse side, appears a shortened pyramid, symbol of the force and of unfinished construction, but also of the mutilation of the antique knowledge after its repression by part of the triumphant Church, or also as the symbol of the secret societies in which the latter took refuge, its steps are far off, its summit invisible and omniscient. The pyramid towers with an 'all-seeing eye' of God's Wisdom, which symbolizes the Great Architect of the Universe, Osiris, the Sun and 'the ubiquity of the Masonic law'. Above the eye, the words Annuit Coeptis (he favours our concern), that expresses the belief of the founders that the birth of this country is an event of divine inspiration.

The sentence is usually translated to 'Announcing the birth, creation or arrival'. In its inferior steps, a Roman numeral: 1776, (numerologically makes 666, see figure 1 & 2) is the year of the Revolution, but also the year of the foundation of the Illuminati. Under the pyramid, we can read the emblem Novus Ordo Seclorum, translatable as New Secular Order or New World Order.

The New World Order

Hall understands those words like this: "Osiris has to raise in splendour from amoung the dead and rule the world through these wise men and philosophers in who the knowledge has incarnated." And William Smith, another 33 degree Mason, adds: "The plan of God, dedicated to the new order of things, is to make a new nation, a new race, a new civilization and a new non-sectarian religion that has been named already the religion of "The Big Light". A light behind which a lot of Christians see Lucifer huddled up. Is that the new international order that Bush announces us with insistence following the Gulf's war and his friendship with the gigantic Soviet?

This old promise has been reiterated by other American politicians. In 1968 Nelson Rockefeller promised that if he reached the presidency, he would work "until the creation of a New World Order". In the Declaration of Interdependence signed in 1976 by 92 congressional participants and 32 American senators, they certify that "It has been two centuries that our predecessors gave light to a new nation. Now, we will unite our forces to enlighten a New World Order," The influential Secretary of State, Henry Kissinger, affirmed in 1975 that the United States "are remarkably endowed to play a creative and dicisive role in the New World Order that is taking place around us." This new order has been required and celebrated by the members of the movement New Era. And it is rejected as diabolic by the Fundamentatlists, who precisely see in this pseudo-mystical trend the germ of a new religion universal and anti-Christical. They probably both have their part of reason.

The Great Seal of the United States

The actual situation, in which the abyss between the developed countries and the third world increases and raises the state control on the citizens, obliges us to wonder if they are going to lead us into a society like the one described by Aldous Huxley in 'A happy World' or by George Orwell in '1984', whose 'Big Brother is watching you' reminds one greatly of the 'all seeing eye' in the top of the pyramid that appears in the American Great Seal.

H.G. Wells, private tutor in Oxford of Huxley and Orwell, spoke in his essay 'The Open Conspiracy, plans for a world revolution' of a circle of conspirators.

To investigate about this note will lead us to discover the close relations that unite them to him and his disciples with societies as influential and dissimulated as the socialists Fabians, Theosophy, the Golden Dawn, the Society of Physic Invèstigations (pioneer of the scientific parapsychology), the Round Table, the Royal Institute for International Affairs and its children, the Council on Foreign Relations, the Bilderberger Group, the Trilateral Commission, the United Nations and the Club of Rome, the Rand Corporation... (which still exists).

The unification of Europe is a fundamental step towards the advent of this New World Order. In further articles we wil see in great details the role that is played in the latter by the initiates and the secret societies.

As Anthony C. Sutton - professor of History in Stanford University - maintains in his book "An Introduction to the Order", a secret society controlled since 1833 by families established in the United States in the XVIIth century and by millionaires several times over, would have penetrated every vital sector of the American society and would control the most influential transnational organisations, providing a concentric organisation similar to the one from the Illuminati. What is sure is that, from the 37 presidents prior to Jimmy Carter, 21 were from the same families, directly or through their marriage, according to the investigation undergone by Michael P. Merlie in the Wisconsin University, who met no more than 13 Roosevelts, 14 Tylers, 16 Coolidges and many members from the accomplice families between the 224 ancestors and descendants that he needed to connect to the presidents. This for him, would support the theory maintained by the psychologist William Domhaff saying that the American high class is at least partially integrated through marriage.

In a parallel study, Nike Fellner has discovered other surprising relationships between 22 presidents coinciding with Merlie, saying there exists an elite endowed with a Tremendous power in the United States, a 'cryptocracy' or occult government. Some similar hypothesis have been maintained by other investigators. Ismael Medina, a journalist with a long trajectory and an authentic specialist in conspiracies, asserts to me that Bush and his father belong to this order.

What there is no doubt about, is that Bush is one of the very few personages who, since years, has been a member of these three all powerfull associations which are the Trilateral Commission, the Bilderberg group and the Council on Foreign Relations, on top of having been the CIA's Director and having demonstrated his abilities for being head of state. There is not so many persons like that to be in charge of the destiny of America, on the border to the New Millenium.

For sure, the Millennium Society has invited the Bush family to be present at the odd event that they prepare for the end of the century in the Great Pyramid of Cheops, and the ex-president has contested that he trusts to be able to be present. (This is a highly important event that will occur in the year 2000, we will document it in a future article.) (For more information on the Fabian society & the Illuminati see video documentary 'Past, Present & Future' or the manuscript 'Novos Ordo Seclorum, 666 and the computerized New World Order' which are both availiable through C.N.I.)

The Counter-Initiation

Where the laymans minds see a Satanic plot, feeling like simple puppets manipulated by invisible hands, the esoterist catches a glimpse of the accomplishment of the divine plan: certain organisations, isue from a mysterious structure, the Counter-Initiation - which one Guenon, the great theoretician of esoterism, considers responsible for all the subversive processes - would participate to the latter by accelerating the process of decadence of the civilization that would allow the dawning of another century, helping by this manner, like a fermenting agent, the development of the historical process. Prior to this qualitative jump is described as the 'End of Father Time', prophesied by all the traditions, that announce the coming of fighting restorers of the lost Order. But before the advent of a new Golden Age, according to them, we can expect a great totalitarian state, together with the open demonstration of the Counter-Initiation. The origins of this one refers to Genesis and the Book of Enoch: The Celestial Vigilants or Sons of God who married the daughters of men, bringing the knowledge and the civilisation, but also the problems.

This essential water shed also appears to be reflected by the Egyptians in the murderer of Osiris: his brother Seth, whose cult would have been perpetuated until today, making up the heart of this subversive structure. The 'Temple of Seth' is one of the roots of 'Satanism', but that is another story. This is a very large subject which we will partly cover in future issues documenting George Bush's connections to it via his involvment with the secret society "Skull & Bones". # Printed in New Dimensions Magazine (now VORTEXIJAII: New Essential World Solutions), April 1992, Berget, 1593, Svinndal, Norway &

1897 - Prophecies Concerning Our Time And The Near Future....

Recently C.N.I. was handed a book entitled 'Profetieën over onzen tijd en de naaste toekomst' ('Prophecies concerning our time and the near future' by A. van Son, released in 1940 by 'TERUG TER ORDE' (Back To Order) Publishers, The Hague, Holland. The following information has been checked by C.N.I. in Europe and the following information has been confirmed by at least three different sources, apart from the most obvious that it is happening today! The following translation is an extract from a speech given at a Masonic meeting in Switzerland in 1897 and appears on pages: 26 and 27 of the book. You should decide for yourself how genuine this prophetic text is and if this prophecy fulfils today's reality? Certainly anybody who follows global events will not doubt it. It cannot be any plainer than this citation...

"The Freemasons themselves do not even deny it. In August 1897, a large meeting of the Jewish chiefs of Freemasonry in Switzerland took place. The notes of that meeting, which was intended only for some of the most prominent lodges, fell, (and it is not known how,) into strange hands. Professor Nilus, a Russian, published it not long after the report was written. And after that, is has been published more than once.

Whoever has read the studies of Monsieur Jouin and Roger Lambelin about this, will not be able to reasonably have doubts about the authenticity of these so called protocols. The even more cynical book of the Jewish lawyer in Paris: Kadmi Cohen confirms this authenticity silently. The front cover of the book 'Weltfreimaurerei' (World Freemasonry) is even more direct and informs us that the ideas of 1897 were not sufficient in 1932 anymore. I refer to some omissions of parts of the protocols from 'Welt-freimaurerei', where the author, Mr Wichtl, left information in, and spread it throughout the original text."

"Our right is based on our strength. All expedients of power and hypocrisy! Here is our motto! We must not shrink back from the bribe of consciences, from deception and betrayal, if we can advance our cause with these. In politics we must not hesitate to expro-priate property, in case we can achieve this by the subjection of others, the power to ourselves. The press is a great power and it is in our hands. Over all of Europe we must stimulate revolt, troubles and mutual hostility. We must be able to withstand all resistance by a declaration of war, and if need be by unleashing a world war. At this very moment (1897) I can assure you that we are just a few steps away from achieving our goal. Just a little while longer and the circle of the symbolic snake, the sign of our people, will be joined. When this circle is complete, then it will lay as an unbreakable chain around all the states of Europe. We will rule the people by taking advantage of their jealousy and hate. We will cause a general economic crisis by using all possible cunning means and with the help of gold, which is completely in our hands. We will let the wages increase, but the working class will not benefit from this, as we will raise the prices of goods and the necessities of life. Soon we will organize large monopolies, and we will impose import and export duties and we will stimulate an unbridled desire for luxurious things and wealth. Soon we will place advertisements in which the people are invited to support all kinds of games, the arts and sports etc. This new kind of entertainment will forever distract the minds and spirits of the public from the matters which could bring us into trouble with the lowly people. We will stop economic life by withdrawing the money from circulation. And the money that our board will put into circulation will be of paper or even of wood. We are Master on Earth, we will not accept any other religion than ours. The day the King of Israel (the Anti Christ) will put the crown on his holy head, by which the whole of Europe will worship him, he will become the world's patriarch! The King of Israel will be the true pope of the universe, the patriarch of the international church.

Translated by David M. Summers.

MOONLANDING OR MOONGATE

"That's one small step for man, but a giant leap for mankind!"

On July 20th 1969 these were the words which astronaut Neil Armstrong uttered to more than 800 million people on earth, while stepping down the ladder of the lunar module onto the surface on the moon.

But what if we never really went to the moon? What are the implications for humanity today...?

MOONGATE:- PHOTOGRAPHIC SCRUTINY!

Most people living today on this wonderful planet, remember those beautiful shots of the Apollo mission which were received via radio and television right around the globe. The Headlines about the landing, printed across the front pages of virtually every newspaper! There is absolutely no doubt Armstrong was on the Moon - or is there? For years now researchers from around the world, have brought forth evidence to the contrary of NASA's (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) claims, even going so far as to state that: - "We just never went to the Moon!". For one to make a statement like that publicly would cause in the best of cases just a little snigger, and a remark like - "Well golly gee we never went to the moon:- this guys really got a screw loose!" In any case, no matter what you think or believe, there are some very important factors concerning the moon landing, related photographs and film footage, which NASA is still giving out around the world as 'credible evidence' for their case. But the evidence against this autocratic organization is mounting. It has reached the stage now that they can no longer deny that they have doctored photographic and film material to present a certain picture to the public. The whole planning took more than ten years to get underway at an approximate cost of 30 billion dollars. The pumping of money into NASA's program was enormous, and patriotism was being sold to the American public and infact the whole world, like it was going out of fashion.

The following photographs are just a few which Contact Network International Research Organization has been collecting for many years now. These prints are just a select few of some of the most damming evidence against NASA, in fact...not just NASA but the whole U.S. Government:- both past & present. These photographs prove beyond a shadow of a doubt:- conspiracy - the lies of a secret covert agency which designed, planned and carried out MOONGATE: - America's 30 billion dollar hoax. Any professional photographer will tell you that the pictures just do not 'ring true'.

Evidence of not just photographic enhancement, but downright manipulation is obvious, even to the most stubborn sceptic. I've written this article because the evidence which has been collected, published and broadcast in Europe in the last years, must not just reach the borders there and stop dead - but each and every individual has the 'right to know' concerning this lie, preached by NASA around the world. After all, this lie has really given way to many others, that are being told to humanity.

'SPIN CONTROL'

Spin control is political terminology for basically stating a lie, spin it around enough, and spit it out again with a sprinkling of truth, a little longer, chew it back up and regurgitate it out solidly into the public sector. "Bingo...science fiction becomes science fact, or is it science fact which has become science fiction, or ah...I'm getting confused, it must be science fiction after all - but if it is on TV then it must be true..!" Niccoló Machiavelli (1469 - 1527) was one of the greatest writers of this millennium on 'Spin Control' and '3rd Party Politics. In a nutshell his ideas have been adopted into our society to create so-called modern democracy...."If you do not have an enemy then lets us create one for you, if you have peace then let us create war for you, if you do not have patriotism then let us do something to instil it back and keep our 'enemies' at bay. Give them only two choices, but create a third and this brings only confusion".

Machinery on our moon? Stitches across the surface are indicated in the Bullialdus-Lubinicky area.

Spin control is political terminology for basically stating a lie, spin it around enough, and spit it out again with a sprinkling of truth, a little longer, chew it back up and regurgitate it out solidly into the public sector.

For example, in 1917 the Imperial Japanese Mission issued a record of the reception throughout the United States of the Special Mission Headed By Viscount Ishii. A quote from that records states:- "Someone remarked that the best way to unite all the nations on this globe would be an attack from some other planet. In the face of such an alien enemy, people would respond with a sense of their unity of interest and purpose. We have the next thing to that at the present time..." In a speech given by former U.S. President Reagan at the United Nations General Assembly on September 21st, 1987, he stated "If suddenly there was a threat to this world from other some other species, from some other planet. In our obsession with antagonism at the moment, we often forget how much unites all the members of humanity,...perhaps we need some outside universal threat to make us recognise this common bound. I occasionally think how quickly our differences world-wide would vanish if we were facing an alien threat, from outside this world".

Reagan actually referred to Aliens 5 times during his presidency. Now the key word which many overlook in the above quote is 'need'...perhaps we 'NEED' an alien threat, so if we don't have one, then let us create one. Reagan you say...'he was just an actor'...yes, but he was the president of the most mightiest nation on earth at the time when he said these things. Many of these men may be sincere, but there are a powerful few who are puppets on the end of the lengthy conspiratorial string.

Deeply understanding the above will help us understand that nothing is impossible to pull off, and it is all done 'By Way Of Deception' to coin a phrase.

'APRIL 12th, 1961 YURI GAGARIN FIRST MAN IN SPACE?'

According to late chief advisor to former Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, Lord Bruce Gardyne who worked for the Sunday Telegraph in Fleet Street London was a journalist at the time of the Gagarin flight. On April 25th, 1986 he made this statement in a letter to T.A. Phelps concerning what he thought was the real case in regards to the Gagarin missions into space. "This is all a murky area; and I certainly wouldn't take any money against the proposition that there was dirty work on both sides. My conviction that the Gagarin flight was phoney was based on my personal evidence at that time, and remains unshaken"....Yours sincerely Lord Bruce Gardyne.

MOON TEMPERATURE

Temperatures on the moon are extreme, enough to boil lead during the day, and sufficient to make everything rock hard in the suns shadow. According to the Encyclopaedia of Invention published by H.S. Stuttman Inc. Connecticut USA, temperatures on the moon (which come from NASA's own figures) sore to over 100 °C (212°F), during the time that the moon's surface is exposed to the sun. And when the temperature drops during a lunar night it falls below minus 150°C (238°F) Can anyone out there explain how the astronauts were able to function in these extremes of temperature?

130 kms above the luner surface. Notice no stars and the autumn colours? Vegetation perhaps? - According to NASA, with no atmosphere colours do not shine through!

P.S. During the 25th Moon landing anniversary celebrations shown on BBC, the flag appeared to flap wildly on the moon. A young space astronaut while laughing out loud after seeing it, said "that my friend Buzz Aldrin told me that it wasn't intended to flap" (whatever that might mean!)

SPACEMEN IN NEVADA?

The following is a news paper article publicised by the Los Angeles Free Press about the moon on January 2nd, 1975 - and it sums up the situation pretty well. America's Astronauts never landed on the Moon! That is the astounding conclusion of Bill Kaysing, a former technical publications editor with the Rocketdyne corporation and author of "We Never Went To The Moon". Kaysing, say's that the Apollo program that allegedly landed several American Astronauts on the Moon was nothing more than

When NASA mentions making a fender for the moon rover out of plasticized components, it seems ridiculous. The fenders would have been burnt to a crisp by the relentless unfiltered sunlight. Airline pilots state that the temperature of a windshield on a jet must be carefully controlled during accent and decent to prevent cracking or fogging. On earth we are dealing with perhaps only a difference of around (130°F) On the Moon the temperature differentials would have been between 500 to 1,000 degrees in some areas. The Astronauts would have been cooked if standing in any sort of sunlight on the moon - if we are to believe NASA concerning their temperature figures.

What is the source of light on the faceplate? This should be in deep shadow, as the sun is behind the figure. Also if the source of light is artificial, it should be reflected from the faceplate.

AN AMERICAN FLAG WAVES TO SLEEPY HUMANITY

A few years ago I gained possession of a number of clips showing the flag waving in a wild wind as an astronaut stood by. Many Nasa documentaries have been doctored, and footage of 'waving' American flags have been removed. Now we're told by NASA that there is no wind, rain or water up there, therefore no life can exist. But take a look at a few of the pictures here and you'll see clouds. The following is a transcript letter which I received from a source a few years back concerning the patriotic flag waving on the lunar surface.

Dear Mr Phelps,

thank you for your letter of the 18th. As to your question regarding the Apollo flag. I'm afraid that I have no idea why the American flag appeared to "flap". If it wasn't a trick of the camera then I can only assume it was:

1. Vibrating after it was knocked, or
2. Vibrating to order as though the strengthening horizontal arm was wired up to something. I admit that this seems unlikely. Not very much helpful I'm afraid. All I can suggest you do is keep writing to people; try Geoffrey Pardoe, c/o The Royal Aeronautical Society in London - he was involved with lots of the TV coverage of Apollo 11.

Yours Sincerely, Doug Millard
Curator of Space Technology.

No stars again! Notice the landscape and the background mountains joining - a very distintive difference appears, and when blown up, this picture contains most certainly a backdrop - an oversized studio set maybe? Also note the lunar rover is out of proportion in comparision to the astronaut and Lunar Module!

Lunar Module "EAGLE" touched down gently on the 'Sea of Tranquility' - & obviously Armstrong was gentle enough not to have to use any engines at all, as underneath one sees no large hole blasted by their 30.000 pound rocket boosters upon touchdown. Not even even a speck of dust can be seen on the LEM. The background could easily be a TV studio.

a "complex down to earth hoax". "America's Astronauts got no closer to the moon that the Nevada desert" declares Kaysing, who started out to write a book, but became convinced that something was really wrong with the space program. Kaysing continues "I began to question every step of the various moon flights. I discovered that it was possible to simulate practically everything but launch and touchdown. And even these events could be doctored, and if monitored so as to assure credibility along with simulation. For example, the Saturn V, or Apollo launch vehicle, could have been lightly loaded so as to assure enough lift to get it out of sight. Further the splashdown could have originated from a high flying aeroplane carrying the returning command module. All other aspects could have been down men from Hollywood. I learned that Stanley Kubrick had his budget for 2001, A Space Odyssey, raised from 3 million to 11 million dollars. This work could have been a cover for all the faked photography, still and motion picture".

According to Kaysing's research, the entire moon landing program of the Apollo series of space flights was conducted from a secret NASA base in the desert near Las Vegas, Nevada. "They probably used a phoney moon set to fool the world into thinking that we landed on the moon". This secret base complete with barren expanses of rocks and dust, "allowed the astronauts to simply slip into their space suits, climb outside, wander around a little and kick up some dust". According to Kaysing's account, the hoax was aided by highly sophisticated electronic equipment that send back fuzzy pictures and crackling voice transcriptions to millions duped Americans, who were glued to their TV sets in the belief that we had finally conquered space.

Kaysing contends "that it would be a simple task to send a manned rocket high enough into the atmosphere to avoid detection and then land somewhere in Nevada while false transmissions were beamed to eager moon - watchers. When enough time had elapsed the TV camera at this secret base would then be turned on and the fake moon landing would take place."

One point that comes to mind is the Lunar Excursion Module (LEM) has a powerful 30,000 pound thrust rocket engine which is used to ensure its safe decent to the moon. In all pictures of the LEM on the moon, there is absolutely no evidence of a crater underneath the engine. If indeed the module had landed on the moon, the engine would have blasted out a substantial hole in the dust like surface. Check this yourself with any picture of the LEM on the moon. Furthermore, the dust cloud would have been enormous...possibly even visible with large telescopes on earth. And finally, the dust would have settled on everything near the landing site. Yet no dust is evident on the ELM, the astronauts or their equipment. Check the pictures of Aldrin on the moon with not one speck of dust on his faceshield.

While Kaysing appeared on a talkshow, an airline pilot phoned in and said "that he had observed an Apollo capsule being ejected from a large airforce plane at about the time the astronauts were due back from the moon. Seven Japanese passengers also observed the incident. The pilot did not give his name for fear of loosing his job.

More photographic evidence are the pictures which were first by Apollo 14 (No: 14-10279 & 14-10280) of cloud cover over a large crater on the lunar surface. These pictures wer first published by NASA in their own book entitled 'The Moon As Seen By The Lunar Orbiter' (U.S. Government Printing Office) in 1971. This book has much incriminating evidence as many pictures which appeared therein showed clouds, lakes, green vegetation and many mysterious domes and even pyramids. Of course this book is no longer in print but is available through the U.S. Library of Congress. What are they trying to hide?

NASA officials have failed to satisfactorily answer a list of questions he has prepared to prove the hoax. Since NASA won't answer those questions the free press has decided to print them so that our readers can judge for themselves.

1. Why didn't the astronauts make some visible signal from the moon?
2. Why did the Dutch Newspapers circa July 1969 question the authenticity of the Moon landing?
3. Why is it that Apollo records are not classified, but are also not available to the public?

4. Why did so many astronauts end up as executives of large corporations or otherwise wealthy? Was this a reward for more than a trip to the moon?
5. Why did numerous Astronauts die in accidents, others suffer brain damage and still others have nervous breakdowns? Does this relate to the high incidents of death and accidents to the key witnesses of the Kennedy Assassination?
6. What has happened to the Baron Report, a 50 page compilation of errors, mismanagement and incompetence that was compiled by Thomas Baron after the death of three astronauts on pad 34 in 1967? Was Baron's death shortly after he submitted the report a real accident?
7. Why do the relatives of astronauts so often refer to the "unreality of events"?
8. Why was the fact that astronauts were trained near Las Vegas not publicised?
9. Why were astronauts held in quarantine after their 'trip' when most scientists agree that the moon is sterile and there was virtually no chance of disease transmission? Was it because they needed a period of reconditioning after their spurious trip.
10. The Apollo 6 mission was a total fiasco; many previous to it were subject to numerous failures. Then why was Apollo 6 followed by six perfect 'missions', which inturn were followed by the manned orbiting debacle? Isn't this an actual and statistical impossibility?
11. Why was there a requirement for all media news persons to clear their data through the NASA public relations office?
12. Why were all transmissions to the public, regarding the actual landing via TV and Radio Media, easily falsified?
13. Is there any assurance that the astronauts were actually aboard the Apollo vehicle when it was launched? Also is there any proof that the Saturn booster really employed F-1 engines or that the module was fully loaded with fuel and oxidiser?

Since Kaysing, many others have followed in his steps in a campaign against the lies and conspiracy which NASA is perpetrating to humanity. Is a great task just to try to understand, how the conspiracy and secrecy has been carried out exactly. But as there are so many theories, but so few concrete documents which would stand up in an international court of law. We have to date, only the photographic evidence which could see NASA shut down as the over budgeted white elephant it is. If we really did go to the moon then the facts are plain, in as much that NASA is lying about how we got there using the so called rocketry that they have. And if these photos are genuine and not doctored then this also convicts NASA as perpetrating the grandest hoax of the 20th century! Because these pictures and film footage prove that what NASA is telling us is a LIE! Remember at school in science class:- if NASA said this or that, then who are we to question their integrity?

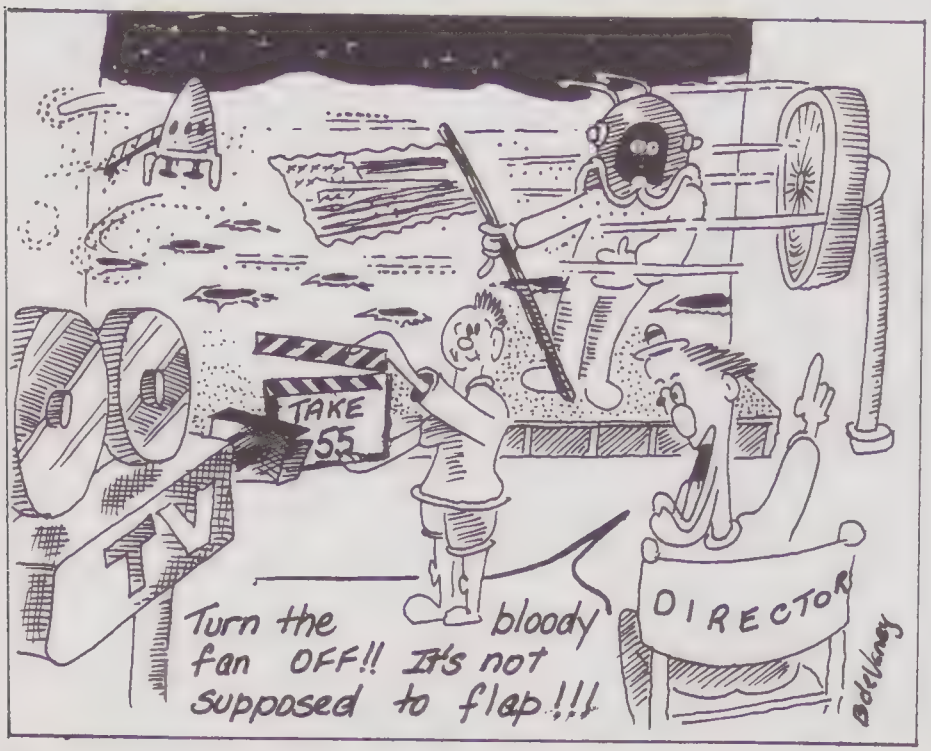
Notice the large cloud or mist has moved north away from the crater it partially covered!



After all why would they lie? Is NASA really only a space research organization or could it be a front for many secret black budgeted projects kept hidden from public scrutiny? Keep in mind if the pictures lie, then the documentation and excuses are probably lies as well - since it comes from the same source. The famous statement made by Hitler's Nazi Propaganda Minister Josef Goebbels was to the effect of "The bigger the lie, the more you will be believed" Remember the movie Capricorn One? WACO
THE BIG LIE & THE BIG LIE CONTINUES!

C.N.I. had this film broadcast nation-wide to more than 15 million people in The Netherlands by E.O. & Exposure TV -
So why haven't YOU seen it?

In April 1993 at Waco Texas, 84 people - members of the Branch Davidians which was an offshoot from the Seventh Day Adventist Church, were brutally murdered by the U.S. Government, under the directions of the Clinton Administration! As seen on this video documentary 'Waco-The Big Lie' produced by Linda Thompson of the American Justice Federation. It is in this film where the scenes which were not on national and international television are shown. Scenes of ATF (Alcohol, Tabacco and Firearms) agents shooting at unarmed Branch Davidians, agents shooting their own men, and tanks completely fitted with flame - throwers setting fire to the Branch Davidian Church (not Compound). This video proves and exposes one of the greatest lies told to the world's public this century! This tape is a 'must have' video. 135 mins.

Roswell UFO Alien Autopsy Film

TRUE or FALSE?

The Facts behind the Scenes

By Charles Rivers & Stanton T. Friedman.

When the Roswell autopsy film was released it stirred the stew in the ever growing pot of Ufology. According to our sources in England, an International Press Conference and screening was held at the Museum of London on Friday May 5th 1995. A few hundred people were invited to attend along with many of the top independent UFO researchers, representatives of major UFO research organizations and the International Press including: Channel Seven Australia, National Broadcasting Company (NBC USA), Hollywood, Tristar Colombia Pictures, BBC T.V and many other journalists from all around the world.

No photographic or film equipment was permitted to be used. The eagerly awaiting audience only managed to see 28 minutes of the total 91 minutes of film footage. The material shown, as the Press and many Ufologists were concerned was a complete farce. The supposed footage of President Truman attending the alien autopsy was not presented, which cast a dark shadow over the day, as this would have proven for all time the validity of the film material.

Later in a telephone conversation, the man in the centre of attention at the Press Conference, British UFO researcher Philip Mantle, stated to Exposure Magazine personally that he "has never viewed any film material which showed Truman with any aliens....The rest of the world is still waiting to see this footage as well". For years UFO researchers have been investing a great deal of time and money to get hold of that piece of celluloid.

What we did see in the film was an autopsy on a body which didn't come close to anything, except that of a human. Multiple times Mr. Ray Santilli, the 'so called owner' of the film has claimed publically and to researchers (incl. Stanton T. Friedman), that the autopsy took place in the Military Hospital at Fort Worth, Texas. In 1947, Roswell Airforce Base was home for the 509th Bomber Group of the 8th Air Division, who under directions of the U.S. Government, put out the counter press release which stated that "no flying disk had been recovered near Roswell....but a weather balloon had crashed"....Roswell Daily Record, July 9th 1947. The author of the press release, Thomas DuBose, declared on his death bed that the weather balloon story was a government façade and a lie. The people in the film, which has appeared world wide on TV, are impossible to identify because they were wearing full biohazard suits and visored hoods. An interesting detail which appeared in the film autopsy operation was the removal of the black covers from the aliens eyes.

Underneath the covers, the eyes looked very human, which is very similar to the reports that we here at C.N.I. have received from UFO abductees into our office over the years. Descriptions of the film from many who have seen it has been described as graphic, grotesque and in great detail...eg: the right leg of the alien was severely damaged, plus many of the organs were removed and shown. NBC reported world-wide including in Australia that the footage appeared to be genuine but compared it to a "poorly made B-class film, from the 1950's".

This comment was taken from other persons present during the press conference. Others researchers in Europe claim that Santilli has failed as yet to obtain any analyses of the original film footage from any film company. According to other sources, Kodak are prepared to analyse the film, but until now no analyses has been carried out by them.

THE FILM DATING REPORT

Our investigations have revealed that an analyses has taken place. This information comes from the U.K. and the United States. Below is a copy of the document report made by Bob Shell LTD in the U.S.A. who is working in conjuction with FOX, and faxed this document to C.N.I., which we have reproduced with permission after a telephone interview with Mr Shell. Our European sources stated that the London showing of the film was repeated lightly in San Marino Italy, a few weeks later in May '95, at the Third International Symposium on UFOs. At this meeting a choice few slides were shown. A few weeks later Ray Santilli the 'new owner' of the film gave a speech and explanation. According to the media in Europe, French T.V station TF1, bought the rights of the film for broadcasting.

This conference was organised by the Italian UFO research group Centro Ufologico Nazionale (CUN). One of the speakers Philip Mantle, spoke about the autopsy footage. Santilli's right hand man Chris Carey, was present and he showed a select seven slides to a group of researchers. This gathering took place on Saturday afternoon during the lunch break, at the Grand Hotel. On the evening news in Italy, scenes showing patrons entering the building and being searched in the presence of the Italian Police were broadcast. A second showing of the slides took place in the basement of the conference room at 7.30 pm. According to pictures seen the slides showed details of the autopsy, where an alien had six digits on it's hands and feet, one slide showed the brain and another showed no ribs in the chest section.

The operating table, as well as the gloved hands of the doctors were obvious, and an 'L' shaped incision had been made from the chest down to the stomach. Mr. Paolo Fiorini, apart from being a UFO researcher is a nurse and whom of which has had alot of experience in assisting with autopsies, claimed "the table on which the alien was laying was definitely not the proper table". Many others have noticed the lack of rigor mortis, and and couldn't see any bodily fluids in the subject.

Apparently this is in direct conflict with the reports that come out of the London showing. Mr. Maurizio Baiata an Italian producer of documentaries was shown the film. Santilli showed him select fragments of the film which were taken in a tent and lasted around seven minutes. After this Baiata wanted to buy the rights of the film for Italy. Baiata claims he 'never saw any doctors in protective suits, and that they could all possibly be identified'. Baiata visited London because he had heard that 'the laboratory' was ready to test the film...this was on April 25th. Which laboratory in question has never been made clear. We have now since discovered that Kodak's Laboratory in question is at Hemel-Hampstead, north of London. Santilli states categorically that one day somebody or some organization shall do the analyses. On a second occasion Baiata was shown a further 12 minutes of an autopsy performed on a different alien. In this film according to the Media, Baiata stated that "the doctors were wearing surgical masks over their mouths and noses, and the body in this film was greatly decomposed".

The 'unknown' film maker has been identified in-between time as Jack Barnet, who supposedly worked between 1942 and 1952 for the American Airforce.

SUMMARY OF POINTS IN PHYSICAL RESEARCH ON FILM DATING By Bob Shell

The edge code markings on the film, a square followed by a triangle immediately following the word Kodak indicate the film manufactured in 1927, 1947 and 1957. Kodak changed the system to a three - symbol code in the early seventies, so this code was not used in 1987.

Film is made of a light sensitive photographic emulsion coated onto a flexible film base. In 1927 the film base was cellulose nitrate, a highly flammable material which was discontinued and replaced with acetate. All film coated onto acetate base is referred to as "safety film" because it does not spontaneously combust. In 1947 , the film base used was acetate propionate, one of the original film safety base materials. By 1967 acetate propionate was no longer in use and had been replaced with triacetate. The "Roswell film" has acetate propionate base.

The "Roswell film" is on Cine Kodak Super XX High Speed Panchromatic Safety Film, A film type introduced in the early forties, (Kodak doesn't know the exact year) and discontinued in 1956 - 57, when all film types were discontinued and replaced with new types which were processed in new high temperature, more caustic chemicals. Film made prior to 1957 cannot be properly processed in later chemicals.

Super XX film was a high speed film designed for photography indoors or outdoors in dim light. Because of its high sensitivity, it had a very short shelf life and the high quality of the images on the "Roswell film", it is my conclusion that the film was exposed and processed while still quite fresh. My educated guess is within two years of manufacture.

It would be impossible to take unexposed Super XX film from 1947 and expose it today and get any sort of usable image. The film would be heavily fogged from cosmic radiation by now. High speed (high sensitivity) films are much more sensitive to cosmic rays than slow (low sensitivity) films. I find the physical characteristics of the "Roswell film" and the characteristics of the images on the film to be totally consistent with film manufactured, exposed and processed in 1947.

We know from our discussions with researchers in England and America that the 'unknown' film maker has been identified as Mr. Jack Barnet, and he supposedly worked between 1942 and 1952 for the American Airforce. American UFO researcher and world renowned Roswell specialist Stanton Friedman could find no document to back up Jack Barnet's identification.

In June, Santilli counter claimed that he has seen a document, that identified Barnet as the unofficial maker of the film while he was in the army. Friedman has learned from the personal diaries of President Truman, that nothing was registered about a trip to Texas between July and October 1947, where the autopsies were supposedly to have taken place. But of course the big question is...would President Truman have made personal notes concerning such top secret information? Friedman also states on top of this that the American Military back in 1947, used standard 22mm film and not 16mm. Santilli put forward the idea after Friedman's statements that Barnet possessed different film which was available in 1947 and that it is the same type used for the autopsy footage. Other major researchers in the UFO world gave their comments.

BACKGROUND FACES

George Wingfield who appeared last October at the Nexus Alternatives 1994 conference organized by Contact Network International Exposure Magazine, and held in Amsterdam The Netherlands, stated that "Reg Presley former member of the British rock group The Troggs, and Colin Andrews, were the only 2 who left the Press Conference with the idea that the film material is genuine".

George's opinion is that the film dates around the 1960's but the contents he is unsure about. Kevin Randle, co-author of the book 'The Truth About the UFO Crash at Roswell' said "I believe the film is fake". He was not invited by Santilli to attend the Press Conference, which according to Randle says enough about Santilli and the film. Other UFO researchers agree with Randle concerning Santilli's attitude. Philip Mantle has stated that, "Barnet sold the film to Ray Santilli for 150 thousand U.S. dollars". On Thursday January 5th, Reg Presley would have been one of the first to see the film and got the ball rolling when he discussed it on the BBC television programme 'Good Morning with Anne and Nick'.

Also around this time Santilli gave Mantle a piece of footage which he was not allowed under any circumstances to show a soul. Mantle claims that "certain names on a pad which appear in the film are readable". These names are apparently Detlev Bronk and a mysterious Dr. Williams. Dr. Detlev Bronk is a physiologist, and appears on the list of names of MJ12, the highly denied secret commissioned task force on UFOs who worked for the United States Government. Whether MJ12 exists or not, is a highly controversial issue. Another name on the pad according to Mantle was the elusive Dr Williams. But others state that Dr. Bronk's name appeared on a sub-title during the London showing. Santilli claims... "the film was taken between June 5th and July 5th 1945, and that we are to accept the book called 'The Truth about the UFO Crash at Roswell' as the most credible documented information available". But associates of Santilli claim that he stated earlier, the "autopsy took place at the end of July, 1947".

'Alien' on autopsy table ready for examination.

Santilli repeatedly got angry towards other UFO researchers who raised the right questions to him. Many of the research tactics of Santilli have been criticised by other experts eg: Stanton T. Friedman. Some sceptics tried to debunk the film footage on technical terms, such as the telephone which is clearly seen in one of the shots. The type of telephone used in that era which is wall mounted, is claimed by uniformed critics to be of a more modern design eg: it has a coil cord attached to the handset. However one of our researchers here at C.N.I. investigating this matter contacted the Australian Telecom Telephone Historical Society and was informed that this type of cord was introduced for use in the U.S. around 1942-43, and in Australia in 1945. The cable is believed to have been manufactured by Pirelli Rubber Company.

Santilli's letter head on his correspondence has the name 'Merlin' which this company was on the border of bankruptcy last May.

Throat incision being performed.

Critics have repeatedly attacked Santilli, stating "that if the film of an autopsy being performed on an alien entity is genuine then this is the greatest landmark in human history and so where does he get the right to act and show the film to only those whom he chooses"? (C.N.I. supports this viewpoint - Ed.)

Santilli's light is getting dimmer!!! His letter head on his correspondence has the name 'Merlin' of which this company was on the border of bankruptcy last May. International Exploitation Management is another unregistered company which Santilli uses. Both companies operate out of the same premises, with the same contact number. When C.N.I. rang Santilli's office on September 1st, his secretary answered the phone still using the business name 'Merlin'. Obviously enough money has come into his hands as 'Merlin' is still in business - what a MAGICIAN!!! Santilli's has ties to yet another business 'Imaginations'. This company produces props, dummies and other equipment for science fiction films. In any case, the newspapers have had a field day concerning the above.

Steven Spielberg (as published in Exposure Magazine, European edition page 3 volume 2 no 1) has been planning for a few years to produce the film on Roswell and to release this in 1997. There has been talk that the film shall contain fragments of an autopsy being performed on an alien. Just after this information on Roswell came out Spielberg's film company denied that they would be producing anything at all.

During the English Press Conference Colin Andrews stated that "the BBC have bought a small piece of the film and this was to be shown in June..." this event to date, has never taken place. Later this was changed into a 2 hour documentary on Roswell, which also has never taken place.

Close Encounter for TV

London: A top secret film allegedly showing dead aliens will form the basis of a sensational BBC TV documentary due to be screened in August. The 91 minute film was shot by US Military cameramen in New Mexico allegedly after a flying saucer crashed there in 1947.

The US Air Force sealed off the site and the film has been classified top secret ever since. The film is alleged to show scientists examining a creature at the crash site. It is also said to show part of the spaceship wreckage. 28/3/95

Although this was reported in an Australian newspaper 'The Daily Telegraph Mirror on Tuesday March 28th pg 18'.

Santilli claims that Israeli television offered him 7 million U.S. dollars for the exclusive world-wide rights, but he decided to sell the material to individual countries. On June 17th Bob Kiviat the producer of Encounters TV, in an interview with radio talk show host Don Ecker, a renown American UFO researcher, stated that they were working on a documentary and will be including Santilli's film material which is to be shown around the world. (This material was broadcast in Australia on the Nine Network on Monday August 28th 1995) The public had a mixed reaction after viewing the footage. After the broadcast came the endless discussions about the authenticity and the characters contained therein. Many of the viewers stated that they think that the whole thing is a hoax.

Sceptics have said that this will be a black page in the UFO history books. Could this be a 'Doug and Dave' scenario similar of that which occurred in August 1991 concerning the crop circles and the world-wide government debunking programme? Has Santilli gotten himself in over his head?

The impactual waves of the film are still to be felt. And what if Santilli's film is proven to be false? Shall this just drag the Roswell incident back to further obscurity and myth? Many rumours have been circulating that Santilli is a disinformant and intelligence agent sent to divide the UFO research community. A few months ago many thought we were nearing this long awaited climax. The best evidence to prove the UFO crash at Roswell really happened was near, and at the same time the film material of dead aliens was starting to surface. The attitude of the media can be summed up in a quote by Simon Hughes in the Melbourne Age 28th August 95, pg 20 under the heading 'The Roswell Incident - Alien Revealed?' "That something fell out of the sky at Roswell, New Mexico, in 1947, seems fairly certain. Whether it was a shipload of little green men, is another kettle of kryptonite. Many terrestrials find the presence of Americans on the same planet far more strange and frightening". If this film is genuine then we have reached a standard of maturity within UFO research, and if not we must all work harder now to control the damage due to this disinformation catastrophe.

If this film is fake it will undoubtedly, not only bring Ufology into public discredit but many other associated subjects as well. Whatever the case may be, the whole affair can be summed up at this point in time, and to use a quote from someone we all know "life is like a box of chocolates - you never know what your going to get"!!! (Thanks Forest, Ed)

The following is the opinion and judgement of one of the most serious and respected UFO researchers in the world today. We feel that ignoring his opinion is like putting your head in the sand, but....don't complain when your kicked from behind.

Front view showing leg damage on alleged 'alien'

As the nuclear physicist who began the serious investigation of the New Mexico recovery of crashed flying saucers in 1978, I have tried to follow the action on the supposed alien autopsy film footage since first hearing of it on January 14, 1995. Twice I have met with Ray Santilli in London. Finally on July 31 and August 1st, I was able to review it in Washington D.C.

I am trying to separate Mr. Santilli's many and often changed claims about President Truman being in the footage, the background of the cameraman etc, from the question of film legitimacy. The symbols (old Greek) and debris on a table very much look to be of Earthly origin and are very different from the ones drawn by Dr. Jesse Marcel based on the alien I-beams he handled in 1947. The female body bears no resemblance to any aliens I have heard described or sketched in my thirty seven years of serious UFO investigation. I have collected a good deal of information which strongly suggests that she is a victim of Turner's Syndrome, a fairly common female birth defect. In addition, the supposed on sight presumably by some of the many cameramen who had high security clearances for such projects as the explosion by the 509th of two A-Bombs during 'Operation Crossroads' in 1946 in the Pacific. It was Major Jesse Marcel and others of the 509th who recovered the Roswell wreckage. The Santilli film footage is still in my 'grey' basket, though I am leaning towards fraud.....though not made, only exploited by Santilli. His order blank for the $50.00 video has four disclaimers!!!

A former USAF OSI man told me that he saw the footage in 1981 and it was then shown to be fraudulent. Perhaps it was kept for disinformation purposes? There is also insufficient evidence as yet was because they hadn't seen all the footage that FOX has, as I did, and wouldn't be aware of the many claims that were presented that have no basis in fact. They wouldn't be aware of the omissions either.

There were some reasonably reliable people in the show including Dr. Jesse Marcel, Walter Haut, myself and some well known Hollywood special effects people. Much space was unfortunately given to the emotionally charged testimony of Frankie Rowe, Karl Pflock and I separately and jointly had tried to verify her story of the fireman having gone out more than thirty miles north of Roswell and seen the craft and alien bodies. She told of her own playing with Side view of 'alien'.

'Military' witness, Frank J. Kaufmann, provided nothing to back up his many claims during my recent two hour visit with him. He claimed to Channel 4, that the stills are the bodies that he supposedly saw, but the drawings in the 'The Truth about The UFO Crash at Roswell' bear little resemblance to the body. They also show four fingers and a thumb, not five and a thumb, as in the footage, and not four fingers (no thumb) that other witnesses have noted.

Having worked under security in the Nuclear business in the U.S. for fourteen years, I have great trouble with the notion of so much highly classified material being smuggled out. However, I am certain after all my research, that two saucers crashed in New Mexico in July, 1947, as described in 'Crash at Corona', and that alien bodies were recovered and would have been autopsied.

Loads of film would have been shot, to support this notion.

As the original investigator of the Roswell Incident beginning in 1978, I watched this TV special with great concern. I had been trying to pin down the facts about the supposed autopsy footage since mid January, 1995, when I first heard about it, and was hoping that this FOX production with a big budget and a even bigger talk had turned up solid new information. I would have hoped that the film possessor, Ray Santilli, with whom I met twice in England, being paid a six figure sum for the privilege of using his footage would have been co-operative.

Instead, the show while probably entertaining to TV viewers, was from a journalistic and scientific viewpoint an almost complete washout. The wrong questions were asked and often the wrong answers were given. Most viewers would not be aware of how misleading the show a piece of the peculiar material that would assume its original shape no matter how folded as provided at the Roswell Fire Station by a State Patrolman. She told of being threatened by a government agent, being told she would be left out in the desert, if she ever spoke of what she had seen. We found no evidence that this tale had been told before the 'Unsolved Mystery' program of 1989 with such material being shown.

The problem is we could find nothing to substantiate her tale. City Councilman and a former Fire Chief say that the truck would never have been sent thirty miles from town. Neither local surgeons nor the hospital at which she supposedly had surgery performed a few days earlier, which is why she was waiting for her father to finish work, had a record of the surgery. It is difficult to imagine a State Highway Patrolman having been at a very high security crash site casually not only taking a sample, but showing it to buddies at the fire house and letting her play with it. New Mexico authorities had great concern with security and spies, what with all the classified work going on down there.

Through out the show the suggestion was pushed that either the footage, of which they showed very little, was a hoax created in Hollywood or an autopsy of a real alien. This choice is nonsense. It might well have been a routine autopsy performed on an abnormal earthling, perhaps required by law, because the cause of death was unknown. World renown forensic pathologist Dr. Cyril Wecht and the narrator claimed that it wasn't likely a 'Turner's Syndrome' woman, because they practically never survive to adulthood. This is unadulterated nonsense. Loads of 'Turner Syndrome' women survive to adulthood. In talking to professionals and a parent dealing with 'Turner Syndrome' prior to the show, we had agreed the average physician would normally never see such a patient and would have little or no information about it, besides what he might have heard in Medical School decades earlier, which is probably wrong today. Dr. Wecht had not done his homework.

Dr. Melroy the U.K. pathologist noted the unusual position of the ears..... one of the features of 'Turners Syndrome' along with a lack of breasts and ovaries, a shield chest, unusual palates, mandibles maxillas, cranial bone structure, triangular facial shape, and some extra skin at the base of the neck all of which were visible. Mr Santilli was treated far too well.

He has changed the cameraman's story many times. Now he says the autopsy was done in Forth Worth, before it was Dallas. He has not provided a shred of evidence that there even is a live cameraman connected with the footage. It was not noted in the show that Santilli also is now claiming a different date and location, well away from Roswell than had been claimed before. He is abetting a tax dodger and a thief, if he is telling the truth. He told me and others that "Harry Truman was clearly visible in the film". Nobody has seen him, recently he said "Truman's name was on a film can"!

The FOX show didn't use any of the Challenge to Ray Santilli May 3, 1995

Subject: Purported Roswell crashed saucer and autopsy film footage.

As the scientist who was the first investigator of the Roswell story and is still actively investigating it, I am very concerned that, despite the almost four months that have gone by since the first public noise about the footage, you have provided no evidence whatsoever to substantiate any of your numerous claims.

You claimed, in our first conversation back in Mid-January, that the emulsion had been dated as of the right time frame; that you had been researching the case for over one year, and had all kinds of paperwork from the cameraman; that you had established that President Truman was in Dallas, Texas, when the autopsy took place including checking with the Truman Library; that you didn't know who I was despite having co-authored what many consider the definite book about Roswell (Crash at Corona) besides publishing many papers about Roswell and Majestic 12. When we met on April 4 in London, you claimed that Cameraman JB was given $100.000 U.S., but no receipt was obtained; that he is dominated by his wife, but that she didn't know anything about the deal. These both sound very unlikely.

Surely IF the film were genuine, you would have had it examined in detail by someone like me who has been working on the story for more than 17 years and by film experts. You would have provided as a minimum the following data:

1. The make and model of camera used.
2. The type of film used and the actual dates of the filming.
3. Evidence in the form of a written report from Kodak or whoever, to supposedly determined the vintage of the film.
4. JB's military discharge papers -- DD 214.
5. A set or two of military orders from the right time frame indicating where JB was assigned, names of associates, etc.
6. A receipt for the $100.000.
7. Some kind of withdrawal slip showing whence cometh the $100.000. Your small office gives no indication that you would find it easy to lay your hands on that amount of cash.
8. Evidence of a supposed showing to supposed religious leaders.
9. Any evidence that BBC had ever intended to show the footage.
10. Evidence that there had been contact with the Truman Library and any indication that Truman was in Dallas any time in the period July 1, - Sept. 30, 1947. They tell me he wasn't in Texas.
11. Any evidence that your effort is other than an attempt to spread disinformation to discredit Roswell....similar to the US Air Force attack on Roswell in September, 1994...similar to the Doug and Dave Faked Crop Circle nonsense of several years back.

In short, it seems to me you should put up, or shut up.

footage of what looked like pieces of large girders with believe it or not, old Greek alphabet letters on them. Perhaps this was because they bore no resemblance at all to the small I-beam replica that had been created in response to Dr. Marcel's description and had lavender symbols nothing like the Greek letters. Dr. Bruce Maccabee, an optical physicist, who has reviewed many UFO films, spent two days reviewing the footage, being interviewed, etc. None of this made it into the show. I spent two and a half days in the Washington D.C. area and provided a solid basis for my concerns. Essentially none of this was used besides some out of context brief comments. Many minutes were spent on a detective agency, one of the best known in country, that turned up nothing at all except a comment from an unknown person that, he heard a statement at a bar in Florida from somebody saying "he had served at Roswell when the saucer crashed". Florida is certainly the retirement state of choice for many former military personal who served at Roswell.

I interviewed OSI man Lou Rickett and 8th Air Force Officer Thomas J. DuBose in Florida years ago. A far out story was told of aliens holding boxes and wailing, and the boxes being taken by a GI who hit one on the side of his head with a rifle butt. This was supposedly in a letter from the cameraman. No evidence was provided that this was other than another Santilli tale. Truth certainly took a back seat in this production. The following is a letter which I faxed to Ray Santilli on May 3rd, 1995 to his London Office.

"GRIDWORKS"

THE WORLD ENERGY GRID PROGRAM

The program calculates with extreme accuracy:

* Great circle tracks and distances.
* Light and gravity harmonics for any latitude.
* Earth co-ordinate (latitude and longitude) to Energy Grid co-ordinate conversion.
* Energy Grid to Earth co-ordinate conversion.
* Calculation of Grid A, and Grid B points over any section of the world.
* If your computer has graphics capabilities, Gridworks will draw a map of the world and overlay a calculated grid over it.
* UFO sightings, Laylines can be calculated.
* Conversion values for miles, nautical miles kilometres etc.
* Will also print out the complete gravity and light table.

"This computer program is a culmination of 27 years of extensive research into the UFO enigma, by myself, and over two years of close co-operation with computer expert Rodney Maupin of Seattle, Washington, USA. Over the years I have been asked hundreds of times by members of the public, whether I could supply maps, or information, regarding the Grid network for particular areas of the earth's surface. I could only reply that it was impossible for me to calculate sections of the Grid for other parts of the world because of the spherical geometry involved. The problem could only be tackled with the help of a computer, and them only if specialised programs were available. It was only in recent years that this has become possible. I was visited by Rod Maupin just over two years ago and it turned out that he was the only one who understood my work and had the necessary programming skills to create the World Grid Program. This work is the result. The first of its type in the world made available to the public.

COKE SELLS UFOS... SOON EVERYTHING WILL BE CLEAR!

The accompanying photograph was sent to C.N.I. by our Australian Branch based in Melbourne. The poster was hanging on the outside wall of a Beauty Salon situated on the corners of Blackburn and Ferntree Gully Rds near Melbourne.

The poster supposedly an advertisement for Coca Cola read, "UFO SIGHTINGS. Soon everything will be clear!" The company responsible for the poster was Australian Posters 3M, PTY LTD.

Our colleague in Melbourne rang 3M posters and was told "yes, we had hung the poster but Coca Cola paid for it and we were to call the Coca Cola company. " After a lengthy discussion with a spokesperson for the multi-billion dollar corporation, concerning the connection between Coca Cola and our Alien visitors?

C.N.I. was informed that others had rang in as well with various complaints concerning the meaning of the poster. C.N.I. was told by Coke that it was only an 'April Fools' joke. The photograph was taken on May the 18th.

What Has The New World Order Done For Us Already?

by Gregory Alexander

As America approaches the next millennium, we confront a grave threat to our constitutionally guaranteed rights to freedom, health, and the pursuit of happiness.

A New World Order, managed covertly by the Rothschild/ Rockefeller banking system, now seeks to bring the U.S. & our economies to their knees more thoroughly than it did in 1929.

There are few if any programs about criminals, like the President's sons, who steal the money of honest people from banks with pen and paper, instead of guns.

As America approaches the next millennium, we confront a grave threat to our constitutionally guaranteed rights to freedom, health, and the pursuit of happiness. A New World Order, managed covertly by the Rothschild/Rockefeller banking system, now seeks to bring the U.S. economy to its knees more thoroughly than it did in 1929. The previous generation of world controllers crashed the stock market by design. First, through the use of front companies, their agents synchronized the sales of large blocks of stock, back and forth, at successively lower prices. This precipitated a panic. Investors large and small scrambled to sell short and cut their losses. Then, the bankers called in the debts. These debts were created by extending credit to stock brokerages who, in turn, extended margin to their retail customers. After the panic had started, selling proceeded until the prices of all shares hit bottom.

In the end, banks like J.P. Morgan and Guaranty Trust, both covertly controlled by Rothschilds, owned everyone's debts, transforming the bankers into legal, financial slave masters. When people were forced to sell their land and business assets to cover their debts, the bankers were waiting in the wings to buy them up for pennies on the dollar.

Expanded ownership increased their control of the U.S. economy. Expanded indebtedness became the most efficient way to implement gradual slavery without chains. Each generation has come closer to this brave New World Order, a world in which citizens are tenants, their cost of living always exceeds their income, and attempts to escape are electronically observed and economically countered. In order to finance the enslavement of America, the bankers needed gold in amounts that are beyond our normal comprehension. To obtain this gold, they stole it from the Czar, who stole it from the Russian people. In 1917, the Rothschilds financed the Bolshevik Revolution and instructed the Bolsheviks to murder the entire Romanov family, particularly the little children, leaving no heir to lay claim to the vast wealth the Czar had naively deposited in Rothschilds banks. Those stolen millions enabled the international bankers to engineer the world depression of the 1930's, and then to buy vast world holdings on the cheap. They bought American banks and companies at bargain prices, increasing their power and influence over the American economy and American politics. They also hired the best politicians that money could buy, including the President, who dutifully placed their men in his cabinet.

After World War II, while the American people were still dazed with postwar euphoria, the National Security Agency and its right hand of covert operations, the C.I.A., were established without the full knowledge of Congress. Every cabinet office in the Executive began carrying out the secret directives handed down to them by the National Security Agency, which guarantees the security of the World Order, not the American Citizen. How was it possible for President John F. Kennedy to be publicly executed before our very eyes, with the Secret Service, the C.I.A. and the F.B.I. watching? If you think that a lone, crazed assassin succeeded in outwitting an army of security specialists, skilled in the operation of hightech surveillance equipment, furnished by the limitless generosity of American taxpayers, you are the one who has been outwitted. In fact, any citizen who, by word or deed, upholds and defends the Constitution of the United States, is a threat to the New World Order.

The Constitution was written by men who envisioned a country where each citizen would be free to develop his abilities to their fullest. None of these men was willing to trade his freedom for the security of slavery, and neither will we. Not for money and not for fear will we give up our freedom.

THE FACTS

The authors of the Declaration of Independence were keenly aware of the danger that spiralling taxes would rob citizens of their individual labour. By paying ever increasing taxes, citizens do not get any more or any better services from the federal government. We can and certainly should make better arrangements for our own education and preventative health care and treatment. Instead, we get a bigger C.I.A., waging war around the world against any free people who refuse to relinquish their wealth to corporations bent on seizing raw materials and labour to finance universal enslavement. We get a bigger F.B.I., conducting surveillance on American citizens and targeting opponents of tyranny with harassment and assassination. Witness the fates of Malcom X, Dr. Martin Luther King, President John F. Kennedy and Senator Robert Kennedy. We get a bigger Drug Enforcement Agency, competition for C.I.A. drug smuggling and Mafia distribution. We get a more efficient Internal Revenue Service, collecting taxes on a selective basis, ignoring all due process, plundering private property, and intimidating citizens who assert heir constitutional rights.

Consider this: How often do we see people speaking out for these rights on network television? We have the Federal Communications Commission to license and regulate the radio and television stations. This same F.C.C. regulates the type and number of four letter words the public may hear, but not the number of murders that are broadcasted. If you watch television, you see a myriad of television programs about police working hard to catch sadistic criminals, but few if any programs about the lack of economic opportunity or inadequate education which create the conditions for criminal activity among the poor. There are few if any programs about criminals, like the President's sons, who steal the money of honest people from banks with pen and paper, instead of guns. Rather than televised examples of enlightened and educated people working to promote individual freedom, the networks serve up an endless series of programs that condition viewers to accept a high levels of interpersonal violence and corporate plunder of the environment. With its vast natural resources, America could pose a real challenge to the Rothschild-Rockefeller banking and industrial slave masters. Allowed to become an intelligent and educated population, America could demonstrate authentic moral leadership throughout the world. By means of financial and technological participation, we could reinforce non-violence and brotherhood in smaller countries.

THE BIG PLAN THE CREATION OF THE NEW VISION

In the beginning was the plan, and then came the assumptions.

And the assumptions were without form and the plan was completely without substance.

And they spake unto their supervisors saying "it is a load of s... and it stinketh"

And the supervisors went unto their managers, and sayeth "it is a pail of dung and none may abide the odour thereof"

And the managers went unto the regional manager and sayeth to him, "it is a container of excrement, and it is very strong, such that none here may abide it"

And the regional managers went unto their department head and sayeth unto him "it is a vessel of fertilizer, and none can abide its strength"

And the department head went to the state manager and sayeth unto him, "it promoteth growth, and it is very powerful"

And the chief manager went unto the managing director and sayeth unto "this powerful new plan will actively promote growth and efficiency"

And the managing director looked on the plan and saw that it was good.

And in time the plan became policy!

THE GLOBAL MANIPULATORS

THE BILDERBERG GROUP... THE TRILATERAL COMMISSION... COVERT POWERS GROUPS OF THE WEST.

"it is indeed intriguing when a prestigious collection of internationally powerful men lock themselves away for a weekend of hush-hush talks on world affairs."

This book is the first comprehensive account of the structures and influence of two little-publicized organizations, the Bilderberg Group and the Trilateral Commission.

Robert Eringer author of the Global Manipulators was born in Southern California in 1954. He has written for the Daily Mirror, Sunday People, News of the World and Penthouse. His investigative exploits have included infiltrating the Ku Klux Klan in America's deep South. Eringer has been researching the Bilderberg and Trilateral Shadow Governments since 1975 when he was a student at the American University in Washington D.C.

Instead, corrupt politicians are paid to vote for aid to terrorist dictators in Third World countries. These lethal parasites (Batista in Cuba, Somoza in Nicaragua, Pinochet in Chile) prevent subsistence economies from advancing to societies that are selfcontrolling and freedom based. The only brand of brotherhood permitted is the slavery to bankers that comes from the "choice" of working for their export industries. The wealth of the bankers always comes before the wealth of the people, so that they cannot "purchase" the time and education necessary to understand what is really happening to them. If and when these parasites are removed, the United States is inevitably forced into an endless series of wars. the President and his men provide the excuses, while we provide the lives and the money. The nation of Iraq was completely destroyed because it was in the process of developing its vast oil reserves independently of OPEC (of which the U.S.A. is a member).

In fact, all the Islamic countries represent a threat to the New World Order. Recognizing the danger of financial slavery, the prophet Mohammed prohibited the charging of interest on debt. This prohibition is written into the Koran. The Elders of the New World Order have decreed that Israel, with the help of the United States, must divide and destroy the nations of Islam before they have enough time to recover from the Crusades. The pattern is clear. Even if we Americans are not aware of our destiny, the world banking interests are. In every war, American people suffer. What did World War II do for America? We paid to destroy Germany and Japan, and then we paid to build them up again. We paid to destroy South Korea, and what did we gain? We paid to destroy South Vietnam, and what did we gain? We get the same treatment meted out to Third World countries, only slightly more subtle and refined.

The Order relies mainly on television brainwashing and artificially created health problems to manage their domesticated American livestock. These super rich own the medical establishment, making health a scarce commodity which they control. We spend billions of dollars to research a cure for cancer, but our cancer treatments do little more than keep people alive until their wallets are empty. In 1925, Dr. Royal Rife discovered that the correct frequency radio wave applied to the body would kill cancer, bacteria and viruses. His discoveries were suppressed because his service would compete with a drug industry that is controlled by the Rockefeller Foundation and based on treatment for profit, not cures or prevention.

If you watch television, you see a myriad of television programs about police working hard to catch sadistic criminals, but few if any programs about the lack of economic opportunity or inadequate education which create the conditions for criminal activity among the poor.

Interest rates are an important means of social and economic control. Bank loans to buy property are free to the Bush family in the middle of a savings and loan crises they helped create. Meanwhile, the average struggling American can only obtain shelter for his family at usurious rates, controlled by a secret syndicate of European banks that underwrite the Federal Reserve System. The amount of money in circulation is stimulated by Congressional appropriations but, when the money is printed, it automatically creates debt in the form of promissory notes payable to the Federal Reserve. The federal deficit may be all American, but the IOU's they call "money" are owed to private, foreign stockholders who actually own the banks of the Federal Reserve System.

The fact that we are not taught in college who actually controls the federal monetary system manifests the extent to which The Order controls higher education in the United States (not to mention the radio stations, television stations, newspapers, and magazines). The Order need not control ALL the media. It need only control enough of the formal education system and the major media to keep most people ignorant most of the time.

In a modern country like the United States, ignorance is their most important product, making it possible to turn a democratic republic into the tyranny of an ignorant majority. This the rulers fondly call a "democracy"-their word for a successful public relations campaign.

Buying politicians to harass the people, they maintain their assault on personal freedom. By poisoning the air, the water, and the food, they keep even informed Americans too weak to mount any effective opposition. By maintaining constant inflation in the money supply and high interest rates for borrowing, they make it impossible for people to buy enough time to educate themselves or invest in enterprises that benefit themselves and their communities. The universities channel middle class you into careers that serve large corporations. The poor young are told to be all that they can be, in the modern U.S. Army World Order Police Force - The Planetary Police.

The entire population is encouraged to rely on ubiquitous credit cards as a means of convenient purchase/debt. These cards have been fashioned into a necessity by the banking system, with usurious interest rates. Not only have property "owners" become the slaves of banks.

Even little people fall prey to a synthetic demand manipulated by media, allowing banks to attach these plastic leeches to their financial bodies. Like their medieval ancestors, in the absence of medical truth, the victims of these leeches slowly bleed themselves and often die early deaths.

And now the banks and their corporate friends turn varieties of junk food, drugs, toxic waste, air pollution, fertilizers, pesticides and petroleum products into modern leeches on our body politic. Are we already so weakened, we cannot perceive the ultimate crisis now upon us? Our environment has been laid waste to strengthen the corporate Forces of Darkness arrayed against us in the final battle, the battle for planet Earth.

The planet can be reclaimed, with remineralization and reforestation of our land and re-education of our people. Re-education in love and truth and not education in deception. What politician follows those teachings? What church follows those teachings? We must shine the light of truth on all who lie to us, who steal from us, who kill us with junk food, drugs, radiation, pesticides, poisoned water and polluted air.

If all of us, each and together, align ourselves with the forces of light and truth, we will win. As a free people, free of poisons, free of financial fetters, free of the public relations vampires telling us what they want us to be, we can follow the light of truth in science, the arts and industry. Developed in the light of truth, these endeavours cannot fail to enhance human life. Developed in darkness and secrecy, these endeavours become the technologies of war, the instruments of propaganda, the chains of a New World Order! # Reprinted with permission!

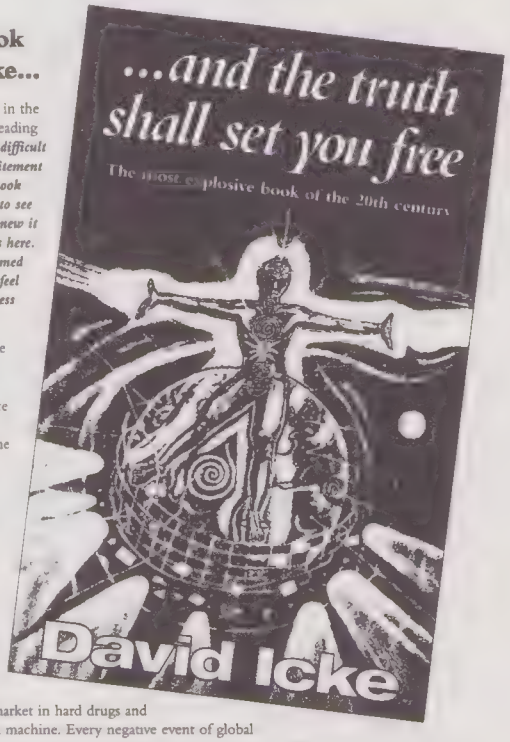
The new book by David Icke...



As a leading book editor in the United States said after reading Icke's manuscript: "It is difficult to put into words the excitement I feel about this. It is a book that I have been waiting to see for a long, long time. I knew it would come and now it is here. I am practically overwhelmed by the sense of urgency I feel in getting this book to press and into distribution".

■ David Icke exposes the real story behind global events which shape the future of human existence and the world we leave our children. Fearlessly, he lifts the veil on an astonishing web of interconnected manipulation to reveal that the same few people and organisations control the daily direction of our lives. They engineer the wars, violent revolutions, terrorist outrages and political assasinations; they control the world market in hard drugs and the media indoctrination machine. Every negative event of global significance in the 20th Century can be traced back to the same Global Elite, and some of the names involved are very well known. Never before has this web, its personnel and methods, been revealed in such a devastating fashion.

■ Icke uncovers the esoteric background to the global manipulation and offers an inspiring spiritual solution in which every man, woman and child on Planet Earth breaks free from the daily programming, the "Coup d'état on the human mind", and takes back their infinite power to think for themselves and decide their own destiny. His words are designed to inspire all of us to be who we really are, to fling open the door of the mental prison we build for ourselves and to walk into the light of freedom.

Know the Truth... and the Truth shall set you free.

The Anti-Aging Drug!

Aging causes the progressive reduction of the brain chemical dopamine. A depletion of dopamine causes:

- Loss of sex drive
- Loss of energy and co-ordination
- Depression
- Parkinson's Disease
- Accelerated Aging
- Death

By replenishing brain dopamine levels, many of the adverse effects of aging can be prevented and reversed. DEPRENYL can restore dopamine to youthful levels.

Why You Must Read This Book!

DEPRENYL: The Anti-Aging Drug is the most comprehensive book ever written about a therapy to prevent and reverse aging. If you are already taking DEPRENYL, you must read this 280 page book because it provides the information you need to take this potent drug safely and effectively.

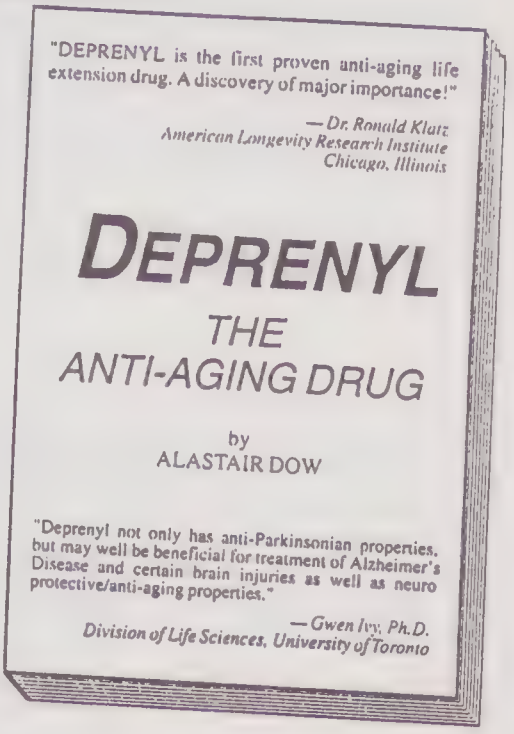
If you are not taking DEPRENYL, it is crucial that you learn about this breakthrough life extension therapy and how it may greatly increase the quality and length of your life!

"Nobody can tell now what is the maximum age reachable by humans." says Dr Joseph Knoll, the discoverer of Deprenyl. "It may be 150 years, it may be 3,000 but with Deprenyl we now have a chance to start testing the limit."

Life Extension With Deprenyl

When DEPRENYL was administered to rodents, it extended their lifespan to the human equivalent of 120 - 160 years.

Numerous studies confirm that DEPRENYL extends lifespan by several different mechanisms, which may make DEPRENYL the most potent anti-aging drug available to man.



"DEPRENYL is the first proven anti-aging life extension drug. A discovery of major importance!"

American Longevity Research Institute
Chicago, Illinois

NO MORE DENIALS !!!

PYRAMIDS OF CHINA REVEALED

IN LIVING COLOUR

Why aren't we being told about them?

Why the denial? Was it conceivable that the government officials were not aware of something of such historical importance in their own country?

The largest Pyramid in China is twice as large as any in Egypt. Ancient Chinese texts, 5,000 years old talk about these pyramids as being old then!

By Bruce L. Cathie

There are no pyramids in the Province of Shensi", I was told. My informer was a member of the Embassy of the People's Republic of China. While passing through Wellington, on one of my flying duties, I had decided to make a phone call to the Embassy, to enquire about the existence of several large pyramids discovered in this area of north central China. "There are some mounds of ruins, probably burial mounds, in the area, but no pyramids", continued the Embassy official, "we do not know of pyramids in China."

This is very strange, I thought, because I had in my possession at the time a copy of a United States Airforce survey map, produced from satellite photographs of this very area, which clearly indicated the positions of at least sixteen pyramids. Besides this I had a copy of a photograph of the largest one taken from a U.S. Army DC3 in 1947. Although I informed the official of this, and tried to press the point, he still continued to deny their existence. A few days before, I had mentioned the pyramids during a TV interview, and had been informed that several members of the public had contacted the Embassy and received the same answer.

Why the denial? Was it conceivable that the government officials were not aware of something of such historical importance in their own country? Surely not. In 1937 the long march, lead by Mao Tse-tung, ended in the north Shensi Province, and the Chinese Communists controlled the whole region until 1947. From there they eventually took over all China. The Shensi pyramids are massive constructions. To remain unaware of them would be like losing an elephant in a city back-yard. The only answer was that the Chinese government did not want the western world to know too much about these gigantic structures until their scientists had completed their own investigations.

The secrets unravelled, by comparing these pyramids with others around the world, could be so important that the authorities were doing their best to damp down the interest in them. Our own governments would no doubt do the same, if they were on our territory, but that did not help me much.

Possibly they had already discovered the mathematical relationships that I had. The only way to find out, I realised was to write the Ambassador a letter, explaining why I required the information, and enclosing copies of my maps and photographs. The following is the letter I sent, and the reply from the Cultural Office of the Embassy.

The Ambassador
The Chinese Embassy
Wellington New Zealand

Dear Ambassador,

Over the last twelve years I have carried out research relating to the geometric structure of the Universe. I have published a certain amount of information amassed in three of my books, the their of which is called, "The Pulse of the Universe, Harmonic 288".

In this book I have published three infield equations derived from my research. The equations are in harmonic form.

One of the major values integrated into the equations is that of 16944.

My research indicates to me that the value is related to the harmonics of mass. This value, I have found, is also built into the geometric structure of the Great Pyramid of Egypt. I have enclosed a photocopy of a map of the Shensi Province in China, produced by the United States Airforce, which shows a similar group of pyramids as those in Egypt. The largest of these pyramids is said to be over one thousand feet high. Numbered no.4 on the map. I have a photograph of this pyramid.

The interesting fact is that the longitudinal displacement of the Shensi Pyramid, and the Great Pyramid, is 16944 minutes of arc. This indicates that both sets of pyramids were built by the same people, with the help of extremely advanced knowledge.

Would it be possible to discuss this with Chinese Scientists, and at some future date travel to the Shensi area to carry out research into the pyramid structures? I would appreciate any further information which is available on the Shensi Pyramid complex. I have great regard for the Chinese, and feel that the sharing of knowledge will help bring peace to the world. I Remain Yours Sincerely etc. etc. Dated 2 nd July 1978.

Cap. B.L. Cathie,

We have received your letter of 2 July, 1978 addressed to the Ambassador enquiring about the pyramids in the Shansi Province in China.

According to the Chinese experts, the pyramids are tombs of Emperors of the Western Han Dynasty, and the top earth of the tomb is of the shape of trapezium. History records tell different versions about the lives of the buried. As these tombs are not unearthed scientifically and there were no marks on the ground, it is difficult to draw conclusions for the moment.

With kind regards,

Cultural Office,
Chinese Embassy.

Weeks went by, then I finally received the following reply from the Cultural Office, dated 1st November 1978.

Capt. B.L. Cathie,

We have received your letter of 2 nd July, 1978 addressed to the Ambassador enquiring about the pyramids in the Shensi Province of China. According to the Chinese experts, the pyramids are tombs of Emperors of the Western Han Dynasty, and the top earth of the tomb is of the shape of trapezium.

History records tell different versions about the lives of the buried. As these tombs are not unearthed scientifically and there were no marks on the ground, it is difficult to draw conclusions at the moment.

Well this was breakthrough. Now at least the authorities were admitting that the pyramids existed. The pyramids were a fact, but the explanation for their construction appeared to me to be a little shaky. My own research had indicated to me that the reason for their presence was of much more importance than the casing for the bones of some obscure Emperor. I had already demonstrated in my previous book that the Great Pyramid of Egypt held within its structure the mathematical knowledge of an advanced science. What amazes me is the fact that a group of ancient monuments of such enormous size could have remained unknown to the western world for so many thousands of years.

Ask 99% of the people you know if they have heard of a pyramid, possibly 1200 feet high, in China, and they will shake their head in bewilderment, as I did a few years ago when I was made aware of it. It was some time later after I knew of its existence before I was able to track down any reliable information regarding Shensi. It was not until I was able to visit the United States in 1977 that I finally discovered a source of reliable information. While visiting friends in California I was introduced to the author George Hunt Williamson. Several years previous to this I had read two of his books, "Secret Places of the Lion', and 'Road in the Sky'. We spent a most interesting afternoon discussing various aspects of the search for secret knowledge we were both embarked on, and agreed to exchange information of particular interest.

I eventually carried out some calculations for George, and he, through some of his contacts in the United States Airforce, managed to obtain a photocopy of a survey map of the city of HSIAN (XIAN) in China, said to be produced from satellite photographs. Clearly marked in the countryside surrounding the city, are the sites of sixteen pyramids. The maps were sent over to me on October 28th, 1977. The following is a quote from George's accompanying letter.

"... I have also enclosed the important article by Schroder on his 1912 trip to Shensi.

Read it carefully and follow the description of the trip in the article and I think you will agree with me that he must have first arrived at the pyramid I have numbered (4). If you start there and follow each pyramid to the south west, it fits his description exactly. The two to the east of (4) undoubtedly he did not mention because they were not visible to him, as they must be very small. He says that he saw seven pyramids. Actually there are ten in the group. The tenth one is quite some distance from (9), and I don't think he was able to see it. Also it is probably too small. (4) is the Great Pyramid of Shensi (in my opinion) and is approximately 1,000 feet high, while (3) is approximately 500 feet high. In his article he speaks of XIAN-FU; this is the modern HSI-IA (XIAN) on the map. The five pyramids that are S.E. of XIAN-FU could not possibly fit his trip description; neither could the solitary pyramid some distance east of XIAN-FU. The village of Pai-miao-ts'un near (4) must be the village seen in the background of the 1947 photograph... Fred Meyer Schroder and his partner

Oscar Maman were traders and in 1912 they were running caravans from the Great Wall of China into the interior. Besides dealing in cigarettes, piece goods, candles and tobacco, they traded guns and ammunition to the Mongols.

All in all it was a fairly precarious way to make a living, and the pair had many hair-raising and sometime hilarious adventures. But that is another story. At one time, Schroder, in the company of Bogdo, or Holy One, was on a mission along the Chinese-Mongolian border, when the garrulous old monk said to him, We'll be passing near the pyramids".

What pyramids?", answered Schroder.

Why the great pyramids of Shensi. Haven't I mentioned them to you?"

You mean the burial mounds?"

Not burial mounds. These are mountains as high as the sky. They are not ordinary earthen burial mounds, though emperors and empresses may be buried in them."

"How many are there?"

"Seven."

"Where are they?"

"In Shensi Province, near our road. I haven't seen them, but I know they lie near the old city of Xian-Fu".

Xian-Fu is an ancient walled city, which existed long before the city of Beijing (Peking) , and used to be the capital of China.

After several days of hard riding they eventually saw something looming over the horizon that first appeared to be a mountain, until closer scrutiny showed that the sides were regularly sloping, and its top was flat. Schroder was awed at the sight of the largest man-made object he had ever seen.

It amazed him that men with the knowledge to construct an edifice such as this, and the ability to carry it out, had disappeared so completely from the earth. As they moved closer they observed seven flat topped pyramids. Quoting from the article by Schroder:

"...We were coming at them at an angle from the east and could see that the northern group comprised three giants, and the rest decreased in size to a small one far in the south. They were spread for six or eight miles across the plain, rising from cultivated land sprinkled with villages. It was more eerie than if we had found them in the wilderness. Here they had been under the nose of the world, but unknown to western countries...

...The big pyramid is about 1,000 feet high (other descriptions estimate 1,000 to 1,200 feet high) and roughly 1,500 feet at the base, which makes it twice as large as any pyramid in Egypt. The four faces of the structure are orientated with the compass points. At some early period in the history of the country, colours were assigned to the four directions. Black was for the north, blue-green for the east, red for the south, and white for the west. The flat top was spread with yellow earth.

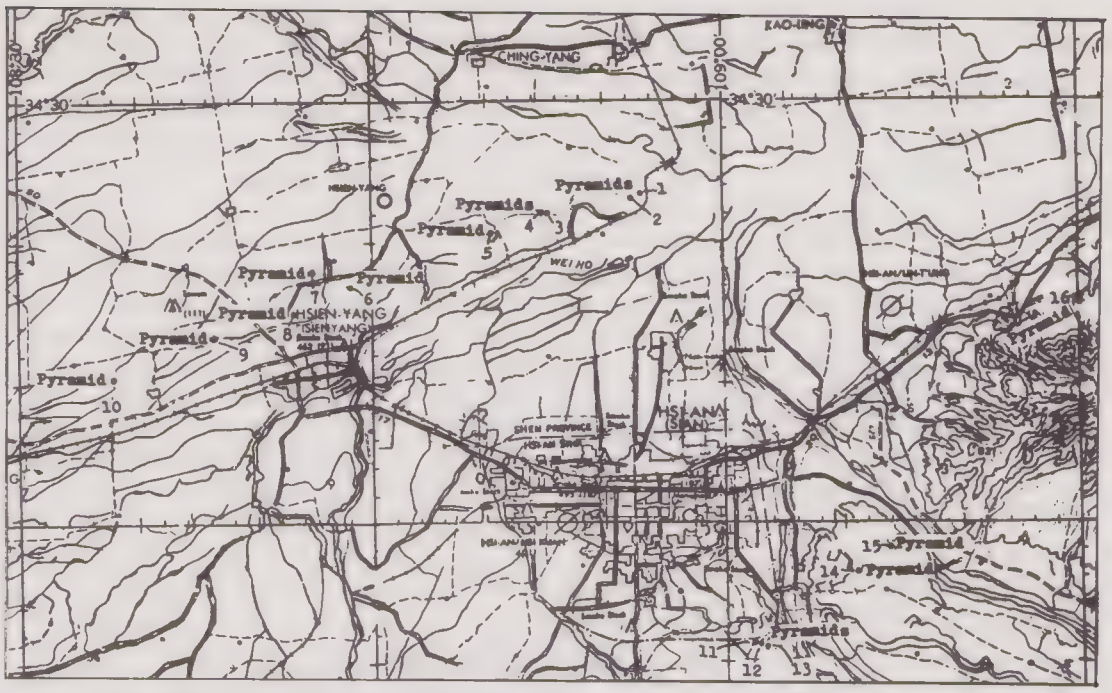
from above. The casing lies exposed at the base, however, and is made of ordinary cut field stone about three feet square. The pyramid itself appears to be made of pounded earth still commonly used for construction in China. Huge gullies, the size of canyons on a mountain, had opened in the pyramids side. These had spewed out rock and debris. The trees and undergrowth grew about its sides, obscuring its outlines and giving the added impression that it was a natural mountain.

The stupendous dimensions of it almost took my breath away. We rode around it looking for stairways or doors but saw none...."



Map Showing the positions of the Pyramids in the Shensi area; China

When Schroder asked Bogdo how old the pyramids were he answered more than 5,000 years. When asked why he thought this he said that their oldest books date from about 5,000 years ago, and they mentioned the pyramids as old then.

Schroder will have been one of the few people in the western world to have sighted the Chinese pyramid complex, and it's hoped that in the not too distant future the authorities will relax the security screen placed on them so that the outside investigators can have a closer look.

The main thing that interested me, of course, was the geographic positions of the pyramids. From the U.S. Airforce map it was possible to plot the very accurate co-ordinates for each pyramid. The general patterns the pyramids made across the plain was also very interesting. It was similar to the pattern of the Nile, in Egypt. This hinted as to the possibility that the same ancient technicians had a hand in their construction. I had a hunch that each one had a special function, and that a geometric connection could be found between pairs of pyramids in different parts of the world. The obvious way to check this was to calculate the displacements in latitude and longitude, and great circle distances between individual sites. I spent a very interesting few days feeding my co-ordinates into my Texas 59 calculator. I could programme this for great circle tracks between points and get read-outs in minutes of arc. As can be seen on map (6) showing the rough positions of the pyramids along the Nile river, a great many combinations of pyramid pairs can calculated between the Cairo and Shensi areas. Unfortunately the only accurate positions I have of the Egyptian set are those of the three on the Giza Plateau, but this was enough to begin the probe.

The position of the Great Pyramid in Egypt:
Latitude 29 * 58" 51" north / Longitude 31 * 08' 57.3" east.
The positions of the pyramids in the Shensi area:

1. 34 * '26'42" N / 108 * 56' 25" E
2. 34 * 26' 39" N / 108 * 56' 00" E
3. 34 * 26' 00" N / 108 * 52' 36" E
4. 34 * 26' 05" N / 108 * 52' 12" E
5. 34 * 25' 18" N / 108 * 50' 12"E
6. 34 * 23' 25" N / 108 * 44' 12"E
7. 34 * 24' 00" N / 108 * 42' 30"E
8. 34 * 22' 28" N / 108 * 41' 35"E
9. 34 * 21' 40" N / 108 * 38' 10"E
10. 34 * 20' 15" N / 108* 34' 00"E
11. 34* 10' 45" N / 109* 01' 12"E
12. 34* 10' 41" N / 109* 01' 25"E
13. 34* 10' 37" N / 109* 01' 38"E
14. 34* 14' 15" N / 109* 05' 42"E
15. 34* 14' 05" N / 109* 07' 00"E
16. 34* 23' 00" N / 109* 15' 00"E

Many different combinations between pairs were calculated using co-ordinates on the earth's surface where I suspected the ruins of ancient pyramids to be found, as well as co-ordinates on the Giza plateau and Shensi. A number of promising harmonic values were indicated which will be used in further research. Although Mr. Williamson had indicated in his letter to me that the Shensi Pyramid number (4) on the map was the most likely construction to be the one shown on the photograph taken in 1947, and my own rough calculations had indicated a possible connection between it and the Great Pyramid in relation to the 16944 harmonic, an accurate computer check singled out the number (6) as the more interesting in the group. The direct great circle distance between Shensi (6) and the Great Pyramid turned out to be 3849.5333 minutes of arc, or nautical miles, (plus or minus 100 feet or so). Which is equal to: 64.15888 degrees.

This number squared twice is equal to: 16944430 the mass harmonic (as discussed previously in the book). The longitudinal displacement of Shensi Pyramids (4), (5) and (6) respectively from the Great Pyramid in Egypt (measuring the long way round came to (4) 16946.755 minutes of arc, (5) 16938.755 minutes of arc, and (6) 16944.755 minutes of arc. (According to the present stage of accuracy).

This initial bit of evidence seems to indicate that the mass harmonic associated with the centre of a light field has a definite relationship with the placement of various pyramids complexes around the world. Different mathematical combinations appear to allow the 1694443 harmonic to be fulfilled. No doubt the larger pyramids have a special function in each group and time will tell which is the larger in the Shensi complex; but each group as a whole has within it all the harmonic combinations necessary to resonate in unison with the unified fields. What is this trying to tell us? We know that if we set up electronic stations on various parts of the earth's surface, which are in phase with each other geometrically, then we can communicate from point to point through the earth itself. Were these ancient structures built for the same purpose? Did some sort of electronic process have anything to do with the geometric positions of all the pyramids (and possibly other ancient structures)? There is the possibility that special electronic apparatus was used within the pyramids to crate resonance for communication; all signs of which were removed in ancient times. There is also the possibility that no other apparatus was necessary for communication between mind, if the high priests, scientists, or whoever operated within them, placed themselves at specific positions inside the various chambers maybe, also, the contact was not confined just to earth. Under the right set of conditions it may have been possible to communicate inter dimensionally, or through millions of miles of space; the earth itself acting as a transmitter. Lots of speculations, but no real answers. In my last book I made mention of the fact that a Russian electronics specialist, Valery Makarov, and a construction engineer Vyacheslav Morozov, had published in the science journal Chemistry and Life, issued by the USSR Academy of Sciences, a theory concerning a massive world grid system.

Drawing of the Yang-Tzu-Shan Pyramid, Sitchuan China.

The geometric pattern of the grid was different to mine, but the same mathematical harmonics were inherent in it. Eventually I believe that the two systems will be fitted together into one concept. The article was based on studies covering widely separated fields such as archaeology, geo-chemistry, ornithology and meteorology. They theorised that the earth projects from within itself a dual geometrically regularised grid. The initial form of the grid being twelve pentagonal slabs over the surface of the sphere. The second part of the grid is formed by twenty equilateral triangles making up an icosahedron. They maintain that by superimposing the two grids over the surface of the earth, a pattern of the earth's energy structure can be perceived.

A look at the diagram will indicate that if the Russians are correct then a pyramid, or some sort of ancient structure would more than likely be found at a similar latitude as the Great Pyramid in Egypt, and the longitude of 72 degrees displaced to the east. This would make the position 29* 58' 51" N / 103* 08' 57.3" E, somewhere near the eastern border of Sikang, in China. There has been reference to a large pyramid being sighted somewhere amongst the mountains between India and China, although I believe that the more than likely position of this particular one to be closer to the Indian border. Nevertheless, it is worth presenting the general report in the chance that a reader is able to supply some additional information. During world war II, the United States Airforce flew many missions across the Himalayan mountain ranges between India and China, in order to supply the Chinese armies with food and war materials. During one of these missions across so-called 'dead mans alley' one of the pilots James Gaussman, had the misfortune to have trouble with his aircraft. One of the engines started cutting out and this could be a terrifying experience in this type of country, where the normal weather conditions were such that if you tried to fly above the mountains you encountered icing conditions, and between the mountains you were met with thick fog and cloud. Gaussman figured that the fuel lines of the aircraft were freezing up and, although it was extremely dangerous, he had no option but to descend to a lower altitude. The engines began to run smoothly again and the aircraft was flown in a hazardous zig-zag pattern through the mountain tops. After arriving back to base in Assam India he reported to his intelligence officer. He said " I banked to avoid a mountain and we came out over a level valley. Directly below was a gigantic white pyramid. It looked like something out of a fairy tale. It was encased in a shimmering white. This could have been metal, or some sort of stone. It was pure white on all sides.

The remarkable thing was the capstone, a huge piece of jewel like material that could have been crystal. There was no way we could have landed, although we wanted to. We were struck by the immensity of the thing." Gausmann encircled the pyramid three times then continued his flight back to Assam.

He finally sighted the Brahmaputra river below his plane, from which he was able to ascertain his position, and eventually landed at his home base none the worse for wear. He believes the world would be amazed if this pyramid is ever found.

"There was nothing around it", he said, "just a big pyramid sitting out in the wilderness. I figured it was extremely old. Who built it? Why was it built? What's on the inside?" I too, would like to know the answer to those questions. If there is anything there the scientists have probably already found it from the study of satellite photographs, but are keeping quiet about it. This whole general area has been shrouded in mystery for centuries, but now that we are able to scan the entire world's surface by orbiting cameras, it should not be long before many secrets will be solved. I found many interesting geometrical co-ordinates which I will follow up at a later date. I would expect different combinations of harmonic spacing to be used for the many points established on the earth's surface. This would tend to confuse anyone guessing at the truth, and ensure secrecy until the new science was presented to the world. The small amount of evidence that I have shown here is obviously not enough to prove the point fully, but should help to indicate an area of research which should be very enlightening. If the great circle distances between all the ancient structures were computed I am sure there would be many surprises. ##

JEREMY LEE

ON THE NEW WORLD ORDER CONSPIRACY!

Interview by David M. Summers ©C.N.I.

AUSTRALIA'S LEADING RESEARCHER JEREMY LEE HAS BEEN EXPOSING THE GLOBAL ELITE FOR MORE THAN 25 YEARS!

IN THIS ISSUE C.N.I. TALKS TO JEREMY ABOUT VARIOUS FACETS OF THE CONSPIRACY INCLUDING - WACO TEXAS, WORLD BANKING CARTELS, THE NEW WORLD ORDER AND THE GLOBAL SHADOW GOVERNMENT!

FIND OUT WHAT TO DO & WHAT NOT TO DO!

DS. Jeremy, as you know I have been researching the New World Order for quite a few years now and have ended up coming to the very same conclusions about it as yourself! Could you first explain for our readers a little about who you are and what you have found out about the New World Order. What it is, who is behind it, and why you think that this New World Order is a conspiratorial one?

JL. Well firstly, my own background is I am an Australian citizen for the past 32 years and was born in East Africa, a third generation there and educated in England. I spent some five years in the military during one of the first guerrilla wars, in the second half of the twentieth century known as the MaoMao in East Africa, which is almost forgotten about these days. And then after I'd gone through that and went back to civilian life as a farmer, I was confronted with the fact that there was going to be independence and a change of government in East Africa.

Considering the future of my family, I decided to move to Australia, which is why I came here. I think all of that was part of a process, the trauma of leaving a country where I had been born and moving to another one, together with some of the enormous political events then taking place. They had the Milan campaign going on and Korea of course.

DS. Approximately what period was this?

JL. This was in the early 1950's. Actually I moved in 1962, but that period was enough to convince me that there was some tremendous changes taking place in the world and in which I got more and more interested in. So I became a student first of all, listening to many speakers and began looking at many ideas. And then gradually I began to speak publicly, first on Africa and then later on many other subjects as well related to it. So that very briefly is my own background.

I'm no great Ph.D. or "expert" to use that awful word. But I'm a person who has spent now more than 25 years studying, speaking and writing, not only in Australia but also over in New Zealand. I think I have now been around 13 times there, as well as around Canada, Britain and Ireland, in quite a number of countries actually. So in terms of commitment to a particular way of life, I suppose I have a fair track record now. It was about the middle of the 70's that I came across in it's modern context the whole idea of the New World Order. And the reason for that was I had picked up a copy of a book while I was lecturing in New Zealand that had been written in Moscow.

DS. What was the title of that book?

JL. The book was called "Co-operation" and it was written by one of their top economists by the name of Ernest Obminsky, and printed by Nevosty Publishing. But Obminsky himself was not in Russia but was working for UNCTAD (United Nations Conference on Trade & Development). And I think he was part of a team of 400 Soviet officials in the UN at that stage, and this was published and put out as the official Soviet viewpoint of the New World Order or the New International Economic World Order. And having imagined that they would be rather opposed to the thing, I was fascinated to read this book and discover that they saw it as the fulfilment of what Lenin had been talking about in the 1920's.

DS. So this book was published in Moscow and distributed in the West?

JL. That's correct, I actually got it in New Zealand and it was being studied by the trade union movement there. I obtained my copy from a union official in a place called Hower. It basically said in that book that western nations must be persuaded to hand over their decision making process to international institutions -

This was ultimately what Lenin had been talking about when he said that the "final goal" of his vision was a world run as one single economic machine from a central point. Millions and millions of people under central direction.

And in view of the fact that coincided with what was already apparent, that there were more and more intrusion by international treaties, decisions and conferences on what was happening in Australia, New Zealand and the world in general. The thing seemed to parallel, so I spent a lot of time unravelling. I spent days sitting in the library at the United Nations building in Sydney and going through all their documents of conferences. And gradually out came the picture of a totally new idea of how people were going to live on this earth....compared to anything that I'd ever understood before. The idea ultimately involved the total dissolution of all nations states and of all races, in favour of international administration under one central control.

DS. So basically your talking about a one world government?

JL. Really if you traced it that far, that's where it was going to end up! Now it didn't go there in one quantum leap, there were a number of transitionary stages. There was the breaking up of nations into regional groups first of all, and then a transition from regions to a one world government. And the idea of trading blocks that we are seeing now right around the world was all spoken of by Lenin and by this book back in the mid-seventies. So, I perceive now that many of the things that people see as very modern developments have had a lot of long term planning behind them.

DS. I know that the groups like the Club of Rome used to publish maps with their version of a New World Order divided into ten block regions back in 1973. And the Trilateral Commission which envisions a three block state. What do you think about these particular groups like those I've mentioned, and of course the Bilderbergers, the Council on Foreign Relations and the Fabian Society...do you think that they will get any sort of world order off the ground?

JL. Oh.. Absolutely, I see their co-operation on what has transpired in the former Soviet Union as part and parcel of a single program. I think much of what we have seen as the hostile division between east and west during the cold war was for public consumption. I think that there was a lot of co-operation behind that, and that they were simply both arms being dialectically used against common sense. So yes, the first time that I got triggered by really wanting to know more about it, was through this book from Nevosty Press Publishing House in Moscow. And that then began to revive my interest in what I had already had a look at.

There were the bodies like the CFR, the Trilaterals and the Club of Rome which was fairly new then, and the Bilderberg Group. And then bodies like the Socialist International who had there headquarters in London, and our own Fabian Society here in Australia and in Canada which I was already watching. So you begin to see in the end a coalition of groups...all of which had a totalitarian idea really. And which might have had some divisions but nevertheless were working for a common goal, which is a New World Order.

DS. Maybe Jeremy, you can tell me a little bit about the Bilderbergers, because as you know this article will be first published in the Netherlands which is very important for the Dutch people who read our magazine. Because as we know that the Bilderbergers was conceived by David Rockerfeller in 1954 in Oosterbeek, Holland and was founded and chaired by the Dutch Royal Prince Bernard.

JL. That's correct, in fact the first meeting of the Bilderbergers and the world elite was at a local hotel in Oosterbeek. Basically the Bilderbergers are an international association. First of all, it's been sponsored and created by Prince Bernard of the Netherlands who was it's founder, but it embraces basically economists, scientists, politicians, treasurers, media academics and officials who come together once every year at huge conferences, which none of them ever get reported on in the establishment press.

But at which enormous world agenda planning is done on a long term basis and it fits in tightly with the Trilateral Commission and the Council on Foreign Relations. In fact there is a lot of cross referencing between those two.

And those journalists who try to expose it....and I suppose that the most famous of those was Gordon Tether of the London Times, found themselves without of a job for daring to speak out about all this.

DS. Yes! I have experienced similar situations.

JL. Well...obviously there is a power that works in the media that prevents the real truth coming through!

DS. Tell me a little what you have discovered and feel about media manipulation, as we have quite a bit of this going on not only in Australia or the Netherlands but actually world wide.

JL. Well, we pride ourselves on having a free press, and freedom of speech but in fact there is no such thing as far as the news that people get. There are a number of developments...the first thing is that most international news now is channelled through to international news agencies who carefully filter and change things, which we are suppose to hear or not suppose to hear.

The actual ownership of the media has become more and more concentrated. I don't know about in the Netherlands, but as far as the English speaking world is concerned, Ruperd Murdoch has emerged as the biggest controller of news the world has ever seen. If Murdoch stitches up this current deal with China television, he will directly control the news which more than 3 billion people on this planet receive...and that is an fantastic achievement if you look at it in that light. But it is very frightening for those who practise freedom of speech!

DS. Apart from Murdoch, we also have Ted Turner's CNN

LEADING AUSTRALIAN RESEARCHER JEREMY LEE EXPOSING THE NEW WORLD ORDER!

(Cable News Network) which of course the ownership battle is being waged at the moment. And we also saw the media manipulation going on in full swing worldwide during the War in the Gulf by CNN and NBC. Opposite and conflicting stories being published...do you have much experience with this Jeremy?

JL. Well, we certainly had it in Africa where quite often the international reporting on say specific battles that were being fought in Kenya and later in Rhodesia during the Rhodesian campaign were the exact opposite of what really went on. There was one famous report I remember in Rhodesia, concerning a massive raid on a small village in Mozambique and later they subsequently discovered that there was no such village existing on the face of the earth. It didn't alter the fact though that the news reports went right round. So you can use news stories and make them tell exactly the opposite of what really happened and this goes on and on.

Anybody who is trying to present a truthful and accurate and objective picture is simply discredited as part of the processes. But I think finally now we have reached the stage where two things are happening, firstly more and more people don't trust the official international news media. And the second thing is that there is a very small minority of journalists who having not suspected that things are wrong, are beginning to see that certain stories are being invented, changed and twisted before they are presented for public consumption. And these journalists are a great hope, because that distrust of their own industry in the end is going to force them to speak out. And this is a very courageous thing to do as in the end people tend to do that.

DS. Yes, we have a recent example of that being what really happened at Waco Texas, which you have just seen the real film footage yourself of the FBI and the tanks setting fire to the Branch Davidians, and murdering those 84 people in cold blood.

JL. Well the Waco story is one of the most incredible of all time, because the whole world for a short time believed that here was a fanatic cult leader who thought he was God, and who had deliberately set out to destroy his own people. And it is amazing how many people now have begun to suspect that there is a second side to the whole affair, and obviously now there is an intelligent minority who knows that what they have been told is not the truth. And I think as that is documented, more and more people begin to question these things and in the end it forces even the captive media to be a bit more careful about what it is doing!

So you could say that is a very powerful international "think tank", embracing most of the decision makers in nation states and parliaments, who are now working on a plan which none of their electors know anything about!

DS. I am a great admirer of Professor Noam Chomsky who has written a lot of books on media manipulation. One which really hit me was "Manufacturing of Consent" which is on how the media manipulates public opinion and changes various news material and the real stories.

JL. Yes...and Chomsky has also been the victim of vicious attacks to discredit him. I think that the mere fact that he has kept going and kept his cool and more and more people are listening to what he is saying, then in the end it is all going to backfire on those who try to knock him.

DS. In 1992 there was a debate held in the Netherlands with Noam Chomsky at the University of Utrecht and the opposing Professors walked out in the middle of the debate and were accusing him of being a right-wing neo Nazi, fascist and anti-semitic. Anybody who shows up the establishment for what it is suffer these sorts of attacks. Have you experienced this sort of thing before?

JL. Oh yes...there have been articles in papers about me continued attempts to discredit what I say, or simply ridicule it or make out that I am some kind of nut. But I find really that it doesn't hold much weight now. There was a time when it stopped people coming to listen but more and more people when they hear somebody being ridiculed in the press tend to think well....he must have something to say so let's go and find out what it is for ourselves. And that is a very healthy sign I think. The old business of smearing is part of the process.

DS. Often various governmental agencies like to discredit the person and not address the issues of what people are really saying.

JL. I think that is really the test. If you find somebody who is being persistently and personally denigrated, without any attempt to deal with what they are saying, then in the end somebody has obviously got something to hide. They are trying to stop the story getting out.

DS. Yes I agree with that! Jeremy, We have heard a lot about the New World Order these last few years, especially since the War in the Gulf against Iraq in 1990-91. In short, can you tell us firstly what the official version is of the New World Order and then give me the information on what you feel is actually the reality of the situation?

JL. Well, the official definition that we are suppose to believe from George Bush's statements is, that this is a coalition of nations coming together to impose peace on the world through military action. And that is what some people still believe it is. We saw it in the Gulf War when we had the United Nations flag flying over a number of nations who came together. But that's only a small part of the New World Order. The New World Order has got a number of parts:

The first of which is NIEO or the New International Economic Order. Which is a program for a one world money system, a central bank, an international control of foodstuffs, fibres and minerals. And the integrated program for commodities and the law of the sea, all of which ultimately are taking the decision making process away from the people. The GATT & NAFTA agreements are on these lines as well.

DS. GATT standing for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trades and NAFTA is the North American Free Trade Agreement.

JL. Yes that's right. GATT was officially finalised on December the 15th of last year, but this is going to take a long time in practice to work itself out and I doubt if it ever will. It is suppose to produce a level playing field, a world without barriers, but unless the debt system is tackled it means nothing at all. Because it simply will increase the competition of trade between nations to the point where trade wars will become military wars. As they always do. So that is one part, and the second part is this huge great mass of international conventions and treaties and bills on human rights and political and civil rights and the rights of indigenous peoples and the rights of children, all of which sound lovely until they begin to be applied into the nation.

And then you suddenly find that all of the rights that you used to have suddenly disappeared out of the window. For example: It is now a form of discrimination for parents to discipline their children. And a whole range of things like that. We are now getting new laws on religious intolerance, which in the end will stop people from practising the religion they believe. All of which are sold to the public under the title of actually increasing religious freedom. Many of the international treaties we are getting in, which are humanist in origin, in actual fact eliminate a whole lot of rights which have traditionally been enjoyed.

Particularly it involves the disbanding of this idea that people elect politicians who carry out the wishes of the people in their own nation and are responsible to them...that will disappear. We may continue to have politicians but they will simply be PR men explaining to us what the central powers have decided that we are going to have.

DS. So basically Jeremy, it doesn't not matter who is in power, the policies will stay the same?

JL. That's exactly right and the whole process of elections will become more and more meaningless. And I don't know again about the Netherlands, but in the English speaking world there is total cynicism concerning politics. Total distrust of politicians and a feeling that elections don't really give you choices at all now! So we have got the shell of a tremendous Westminster system of democracy but the democratic part is now missing. And the big battle is going to be on how to retrieve that and seize power back into the hands of the people, so as they can make the decisions regarding their lives.

DS. So with the New World Order and the official version Jeremy, who do you really feel is behind this World Order conspiracy apart from the groups that we mentioned before like the Bilderburg Group, the Trilateral Commission and the likes? Because I view these groups actually as political fronts for other covert activities!

JL. Well certainly the power of creating money out of nothing and lending money is the biggest single power which exists anywhere in the world. And that is why I believe that statement in scripture about the "love of money being the root of all evil" is a lot more powerful than many people think. That's where it is at. Now the banking world is a mixed world of all sorts of different elements, many of which are simply there as a giant commercial enterprise and are amoral! I think that there is an element within there that has been planning to use the power of money to centralise power for a long time, and Professor Quiggly in America exposed that and I think that was the reason that there was such a big attempt made to silence him and his book "Tragedy and Hope" circulating, because he had had access to the private papers of these people. And nobody wanted that story out so they tried to squash it. He basically said that he'd had access to the private papers of a banking movement that was aiming at world domination. I have no reason to argue against that because the evidence supports what he stated.

DS. You've actually just produced a new video on the money system entitled "The Money Game - The People Vs The Banks", can you tell us a little about that documentary?

JL. Well it is a two hour thing, related very strongly to

THE DRAFT AGENDA OF THE BILDERBURGER'S 1991 SECRET BADEN BADEN MEETING

So it is a Socialist Order, and Economic Order and ultimately it is a Military Order and it involves the disbanding of all nation states.

Australia and the United States because we all have a number of major crisis. In Australia we have lost 100 farmers per week for ten years, which is a huge shift in our population. We have destroyed more than 50% of our manufacturing industries during the 20 year period. We have huge unemployment and are underusing our resources and because of that there is now a lot of people hurting. Every issue is faced except the real one which is that we are a broke nation that is deeply in debt and we are getting deeper and deeper in the mire. Until we can come to grips with how this debt starts and why we could not run our own system without this perpetual borrowing.

And wouldn't that also be possible for other nations as there's no solution, so we produced this video to show that there are ways to solve the problem. It was done as a documentary which meant we ran interviews with farmers, businessmen, manufacturers etc.....people who are being torn up by what is going and then we related that back to the fact that here was the picture of the debts over a period of time and this is why it had happened. And then we dealt with what money really is and how money comes into existence, the creation of money and how this goes right back into history, and of course the most potent factor of how this effects us all today.

DS. Basically, creating money out of nothing, which is the policy of the banks.

JL. That's right David, creating money out of nothing and then taking peoples property in return for it. So it is interesting because it was made by young people and I had a major part in writing the script. But it is attracting an awful lot of interest in Australia amongst particularly younger people who hate listening to lectures that go on and on from dry old dusty professors and economists. But if you can make the information live in practical examples of what they are doing, then that really rings the bell. So that has been an exciting thing that we have done recently. It is beginning to take on in North America.

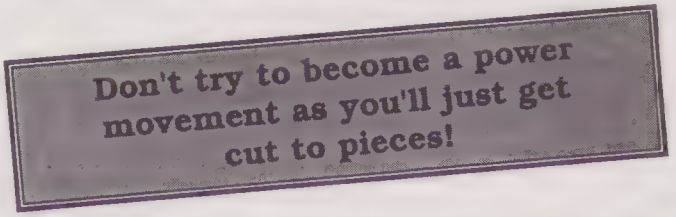
And I hope to be able to produce a whole series of that type of documentary. Very high quality human interest films which tells the story of what is going on in terms that people can relate too. One of our difficulties has been trying to get across the complexity of the New World Order. People see it as so remote. And in the little village that they live in or with their own particular problems, they see it as something that they can't deal with anyhow! We must try to bring this down into an arena that effects every person and then they will be able to see what they can do about it.

DS. Now you have been an international lecturer and researcher for about 25 years Jeremy, what sort of changes in public reaction have you experienced since you first started looking into this global deception?

JL. Well for a long time it was a very very gradual thing and I spoke to hundreds, in fact thousands of very small meetings of mainly elderly people who remember different events. They might remember the great depression or what happened during the war and they are concerned about what's happening today. Young people were just not interested. But then suddenly in the last 3 or 4 years and particularly the last 2 years there has been a dramatic change. There has been a huge world recession,...we've had families torn apart, and now everybody is beginning to get concerned and looking for answers. So I find from my point of view that the audiences have grown dramatically and they've changed in character.

We have many more city audiences rather than country ones. And there are more young people looking into these things. So I think events themselves have begun to change things, but the hardest thing is to answer the question of "what can be done about it?" People want quick slick answers and unfortunately there aren't any. It requires a period of deep study and learning of the things not to do as well as the things that can be done. Because there is always reactions like "let's go off and start a new church or a new party or we'll form an underground army or we'll shoot somebody or we'll go into hibernation and all of these things really are evasion of the real issues.

DS. Do you have any suggestions on what people could do? For example we have various groups, individuals and organizations like ours Contact Network International in Australia and Europe who are distributing a lot of this information. Talking on an individual level like... I lecture both nationally and internationally and the most common thing that is asked of me is...."What can I as an individual do?" What has been your answer when you've had that question put to you?



JL. Well, I've come to the conclusion that the first thing you can do individually is to pass information on. The second thing one needs to do is to invest in a very small number of people. Particularly your family & friends who you can rely on in very difficult times, as we are going to have very difficult times ahead. I think that the individual who thinks that they are just going to get through all of this on their own is just kidding themselves. One must invest in a small number of people who understand what you understand, and who are prepared to help each other through anything that happens.

That is why rural communities are so valuable because there are small clusters of people who tend to help each other. We need to get that back again. The third thing that I think that it is important to do is to avoid making all the mistakes.

If you think that your going to build up enough power to beat the existing power then your going to need an awful lot of power to do that. They have control of the media, finance, energy and government. It is not going to be done that way, it is going to be done as all these powers through going on the past path of falseness begin to discover that they are creating more problems than they are solving. And now more and more people are beginning to wake up and develop initiative.

Now from there, there are a number of things people can do, but I think that it is more than I can answer in five minutes. I run a school on the do's and don'ts of effective action which takes two and a half days to get people through that. Then they begin to understand the correct application of what little energy they've got into the area that makes changes.

DS. Do you get many problems when you research this from either religious groups, the intelligence community or the governments?

JL. Not in a major way. I do get fairly regularly panned by the media, but it doesn't seem to make all that much difference anymore. I mean it certainly does not effect the size of the audiences. I do run into some religious groups that have a very very powerful axe of their own that they are trying to grind. There is now a fanatical movement here in Australia and across the globe who think that we are in the end times, and that nothing can be done, and that we shouldn't even try. And probably if we do that we are flouting the will of God anyhow. And the best is to sit still and try to get others into our church etc. Now this really is a misreading of the whole position of mankind.

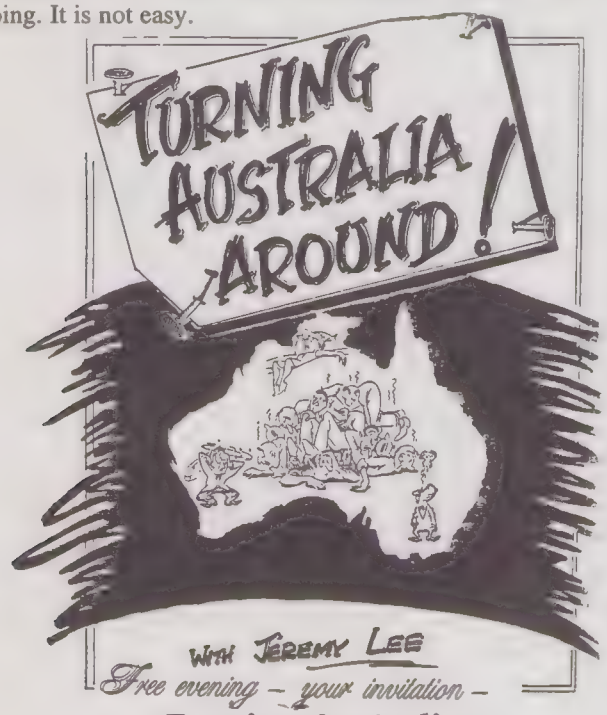
DS. Yes...apathy is one of our greatest enemies!

JL. Sure...well, it is even worse than that, as it is true fatalism of the worst kind. So I do run into groups like that, who don't believe that there is any solution on this earth and we have simply to get people into heaven and that's it! This I don't discount, but I think that it is simply getting things in the wrong order. Apart from that I have not been harassed particularly or shot at or beaten.

DS. And I noticed Jeremy, that you are working on seminars such as "Freedom Potentials" you called it. I have a brochure here entitled "Your Passport to Personal and Global Freedom, the greatest challenge of all" can you give a few details about what "Freedom Potentials" is and how successful has it been?

JL. "Freedom Potentials" is a result of the fact that about three and a half years ago, we put together a seminar in answer to the question which came up at every single meeting which was "What can we do?" People wanted a quick slick answer which we didn't have. And it was always very hard to answer that question because if you have not got what people are looking for then they say ...."Don't go and listen to this guy! We don't just want to hear bad news." So three people got together and spent two years putting together a seminar that was designed to present a positive vision of how a free society is structured and how we can get that back and re-establish it. So the result is a two and a half day seminar which is very hard going. It is not easy.



Turning Australia around with Jeremy Lee!!!

There is a total of 17 hours of video and the seminar is divided into a number of half hour lectures, with excises and training on how freedom works, what freedom is how we are loosing it and how we can use and defend it. The mistakes not to make, and the application of principles and then from there we go into banking and finance. Like how to get out of debt etc....and finally there is a lot of time invested in learning about what the individual can do with two or three others in a certain situation. Simply using the issues in their own immediate circle. So that what we do. we have been running these seminars all through Australia and New Zealand and it has begun to gell. It is generating its own momentum its own steam. We have more and more young people, there is no blueprint at the end, we are not a blueprint organization. We say that this information which contains about 2000 years of practical history and how it was put together belongs to you the people, you don't belong to us.

We'll help you do what you want to do and pass your information onto others, but we are not going to lead this thing...we are just the trainers. The graduates who have gone through this are using incredible amounts of initiatives to do all sorts of new things. Like writing books, starting little movements on issue politics, women's movements or producing videos on all sorts of issues. All sorts of new talents are coming out of this and I find that very constructive.

DS. Often people have said to me that they know how bad the world is, or we have heard all this before about this conspiracy. Whether it be on a political, religious or New Age level! In the Netherlands many people are dealing with the New Age or with UFO sects and cults.

I have found personally that one of the most important points that people often miss out on or forget about is the economic factors. Getting out of debt should be foremost on people's personal agenda. Basically if one can solve one's personal financial problems first and clean up your own backyard then maybe you can help others. Have you seen this yourself?

Lesson nr. 1. is get out of debt!

JL. Lesson number 1. is get out of debt! Lots of people have such big mortgages that they find it impossible to do that. But over a period of time, if that is a priority then you can achieve it. Simply by adopting your life style to a debt free kind of environment. Yes, get yourself free before you can free others. Ultimately it is the same as nations. How do nations get out of debt? And they are not going to do that until they re-examine the whole banking system.

DS. I would like to thank you for sharing this information with me Jeremy and if our readers would like to get in contact with you Jeremy how do they do that?

MANUFACTURING OF CONSENT

© Lecture by Professor Noam Chomsky,
Massachusetts Institute of Technology,
("Alternative Press Review")

Noam Chomsky,
long-time political activist, writer and professor of Linguistics at MIT.

He is the author of numerous books and articles on U.S. foreign policy, international affairs and human rights.

Among his books are
"On Power and Ideology, The Chomsky
Reader, The Culture of Terrorism, Manufacturing Consent, The Language and Politics and Necessary Illusions".

Let me begin by counterposing two different conceptions of democracy. One conception of democracy has it that a democratic society is one in which the public has the means to participate in some meaningful way in the management of their own affairs and the means of information are open and free... An alternative conception of democracy is that the public must be barred from managing of their own affairs and the means of information must be kept narrowly and rigidly controlled. That may sound like an odd conception of democracy, but it's important to understand that it is the prevailing conception...

Early History of Propaganda

... The Wilson administration established a government propaganda commission, called the Creel Commission, which succeeded, within six months, in turning a pacifist population into a hysterical, warmongering population which wanted to destroy everything German, tear the Germans limb from limb, go to war and save the world.

That was a major achievement, and it led to a further achievement. Right at that time [ca. 1918] and after the war the same techniques were used to whip up a hysterical Red Scare, as it was called, which succeeded pretty much in destroying unions and eliminating such dangerous problems as freedom of the press and freedom of political thought. There was very strong support from the media, from the business establishment, which in fact organized, pushed much of this work, and it was in general a great success.

Among those who participated actively and enthusiastically were the progressive intellectuals, people of the John Dewey circle, who took great pride, as you can see from their own writings at the time, in having shown that what they called the "more intelligent members of the community," namely themselves, were able to drive a reluctant population into a war by terrifying them and eliciting jingoist fanaticism.

The means that were used were extensive. For example, there was a good deal of fabrication of atrocities by the Huns, Belgian babies with their arms torn off, all sorts of awful things that you still read in history books. They were all invented by the British propaganda ministry, whose own commitment at the time, as they put it in their secret deliberations, was "to control the thought of the world." But more crucially they wanted to control the thought of the more intelligent members of the community in the U.S., who would then disseminate the propaganda that they were concocting and convert the pacifist country to wartime hysteria. That worked. It worked very well. And it taught a lesson: State propaganda, when supported by the educated classes and when no deviation is permitted from it, can have a big effect. It was a lesson learned by Hitler and many others, and it has been pursued to this day.

Spectator Democracy

...Walter Lippman, who was the dean of American journalists, a major foreign and domestic policy critic and also a major theorist of liberal democracy... argued that what he called a "revolution in the art of democracy," could be used to manufacture consent, that is, to bring about agreement on the part of the public for things that they didn't want by the new techniques of propaganda... ...He argued that in a properly functioning democracy there are classes of citizens. There is first of all the class of citizens who have to take some active role in running general affairs. That's the specialized class. They are the people who analyze, execute, make decisions, and run things in the political, economic, and ideological systems.

The people with real power are the ones who own the society, which is a pretty narrow group.

That's a small percentage of the population... Those others, who are out of the small group, the big majority of the population, they are what Lippman called "the bewildered herd." [According to some in authority,] we have to protect ourselves from the trampling and rage of the bewildered herd... ...So we need something to tame the bewildered herd, and that something is this new revolution in the art of democracy: the manufacture of consent. The media, the schools, and popular culture have to be divided. For the political class and the decision makers have to give them some tolerable sense of reality, although they also have to instil the proper beliefs. Just remember, there is an unstated premise here.

The unstated premise and even the responsible men have to disguise this from themselves has to do with the question of how they get into the position where they have the authority to make decisions. The way they do that, of course, is by serving people with "real" power.

If the specialized class can come along and say, I can serve your interests, then they'll be part of the executive group. You've got to keep that quiet. That means they have to have instilled in them the beliefs and doctrines that will serve the interests of private power. Unless they can master that skill, they're not part of the specialized class. They have to be deeply indoctrinated in the values and interests of private power and the state corporate nexus that represents it. If they can get through that, then they can be part of the specialized class. The rest of the bewildered herd just have to be basically distracted.

Turn their attention to something else... ...In what is nowadays called a totalitarian state, then a military state, it's easy [to control the populace.] You just hold a bludgeon over their heads, and if they get out of line you smash them over the head. But as society has become more free and democratic, you lose that capacity. Therefore you have to turn to the techniques of propaganda. The logic is clear. Propaganda is to democracy what the bludgeon is to a totalitarian state...

Public Relations

The U.S. pioneered the public relations industry. Its commitment was to "control the public mind," as its leaders put it. They learned a lot from the successes of the Creel Commission and the success in creating the Red Scare and its aftermath. The public relations industry underwent a huge expansion at that time. It succeeded for some time in creating almost total subordination of the public to business rule through the 1920s... Public relations is a huge industry. They're spending by now something on the order of a billion dollars a year. All along its commitment was to "controlling the public mind"... ...The corporate executive and the guy who cleans the floor all have the same interests. We can all work together and work for Americanism in harmony, liking each other. That was essentially the message.

A huge amount of effort was put into presenting it. This is, after all, the business community, so they control the media and have massive resources... Mobilizing community opinion in favour of vapid, empty concepts like Americanism. Who can be against that? Or, to bring it up to date, "Support our troops." Who can be against that? Or yellow ribbons. Who can be against that?... The point of public relations slogans like "Support our troops" is that they don't mean anything. They mean as much as whether you support the people in Iowa. Of course, there was an issue. The issue was, "Do you support our policy"? But you don't want people to think about the issue. That's the whole point of good propaganda. You want to create a slogan that nobody's going to be against, and everybody's going to be for, because nobody knows what it means, because it doesn't mean anything, but its crucial value is that it diverts your attention... That's all very effective.

It runs right up to today. And of course it is carefully thought out. The people in the public relations industry aren't there for the fun of it. They're doing work. They're trying to instil the right values. In fact, they have a conception of what democracy ought to be: It ought to be a system in which the specialized class is trained to work in the service of the masters, the people who own the society. The rest of the population ought to be deprived of any form of organization, because organization just causes trouble. They ought to be sitting alone in front of the TV and having drilled into their heads the message, which says, the only value in life is to have more commodities or live like that rich middle class family you're watching and to have nice values like harmony and Americanism. That's all there is in life. You may think in your own head that there's got to be something more in life than this, but since you're watching the tube alone you assume, I must be crazy, because that's all that's going on over there... So that's the ideal.

Great efforts are made in trying to achieve that ideal. Obviously, there is a certain conception behind it. The conception of democracy is the one that I mentioned. The bewildered herd is a problem. We've got to prevent their rage and trampling. We've got to distract them. They should be watching the Superbowl or sitcoms or violent movies. Every once in a while you call on them to chant meaningless slogans like "Support our troops." You've got to keep them pretty scared, because unless they're properly scared and frightened of all kinds of devils that are going to destroy them from outside or inside or somewhere, they may start to think, which is very dangerous, because they're not competent to think. Therefore it's important to distract them and marginalize them.

Engineering Opinion

It is also necessary to whip up the population in support of foreign adventures. Usually the population is pacifist, just like they were during the First World War. The public sees no reason to get involved in foreign adventures, killing, and torture. So you 'have' to whip them up. And to whip them up you have to frighten them... To a certain extent then, that ideal was achieved, but never completely. There are institutions which it has as yet been impossible to destroy. The churches, for example, still exist. A large part of the dissident activity in the U.S. comes out of the churches, for the simple reason that they're there. So when you go to a European country and give a political talk, it may very likely be in the union hall. Here that won't happen, because unions first of all barely exist, and if they do exist they're not political organizations.

A large part of the dissident activity in the U.S. comes out of the churches...

But the churches do exist, and therefore you often give a talk in a church. Central American solidarity work mostly grew out of the churches, mainly because they exist. The bewildered herd never gets properly tamed, so this is a constant battle. In the 1930s they arose again and were put down. In the 1960s there was another wave of dissidence. There was a name for that. It was called by the specialized class "the crisis of democracy." Democracy was regarded as entering into a crisis in the 1960s. The crisis was that large segments of the population were becoming organized and active and trying to participate in the political arena. Here we come back to these two conceptions of democracy. By the dictionary definition, that's an 'advance' in democracy. By the prevailing conception that's a 'problem', a crisis that has to be overcome.

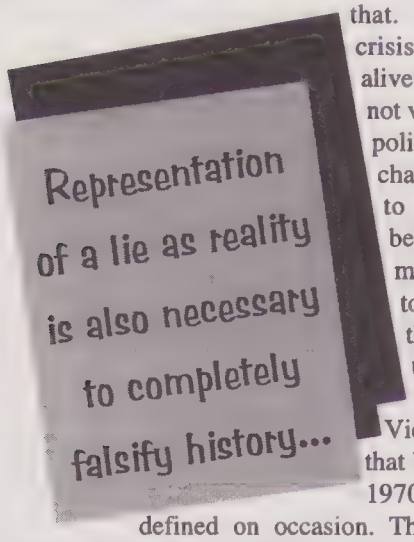
The population has to be driven back to the apathy, obedience and passivity that is their proper state. We therefore have to do something to overcome the crisis. Efforts were made to achieve that. It hasn't worked. The crisis of democracy is still alive and well, fortunately, but not very effective in changing policy. But it is effective in changing opinion, contrary to what a lot of people believe. Great efforts were made after the 1960s to try to reverse and overcome this malady. It was called the "Vietnam Syndrome." The Vietnam Syndrome, a term that began to come up around 1970, has actually been defined on occasion. The Reaganite intellectual Norman Podhoretz defined it as "the sickly inhibitions against the use of military force." There were these sickly inhibitions against violence on the part of a large part of the public. People just didn't understand why we should go around torturing people and killing people and carpet bombing them. It's very dangerous for a population to be overcome by these sickly inhibitions, as Goebbels understood, because then there's a limit on foreign adventures. It's necessary, as the "Washington Post" put it the other day, rather proudly, to "instil in people respect for the martial virtues." That's important. If you want to have a violent society that uses force around the world to achieve the ends of its own domestic elite, it's necessary to have a proper appreciation of the martial virtues and none of these sickly inhibitions about using violence. So that's the Vietnam Syndrome. It's necessary to overcome that one.



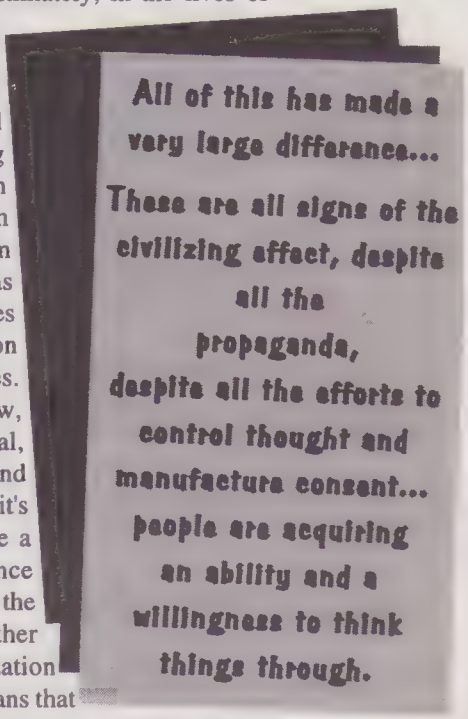
Representation as Reality

It's also necessary to completely falsify history... There has been a 'huge' effort since the Vietnam war to reconstruct the history of that. Too many people began to understand what was really going on. Including plenty of soldiers and a lot of young people who were involved with the peace movement and others. That was bad. It was necessary to rearrange those bad thoughts and to restore some form of sanity, namely, a recognition that whatever we do is noble and right. If we're bombing South Vietnam, that's because we're defending South Vietnam against somebody, namely the South Vietnamese, since nobody else was there. It's what the Kennedy intellectuals called "defence against internal aggression in South Vietnam." That was the phrase that Adlai Stevenson used.

It was necessary to make that the official and well understood picture. That's worked pretty well. When you have total control over the media and the educational system and scholarship is conformist, you can get that across... The picture of the world that's presented to the public has only the remotest relation to reality. The truth of the matter is buried under edifice after edifice of lies. It's all been a marvellous success from this point of view in deterring the threat of democracy, achieved under conditions of freedom, which is extremely interesting. It's not like a totalitarian state, where it's done by force. These achievements are under conditions of freedom. If we want to understand our own society, we'll have to think about these facts. They are important facts, important for those who care about what kind of society they live in.

Dissident Culture

Despite all of this, the dissident culture survived. It's grown quite a lot since the 1960s. In the 1960s the dissident culture first of all was extremely slow in developing. There was no protest against the Indochina war until years after the U.S. had started bombing South Vietnam. When it did grow it was a very narrow dissident movement, mostly students and young people. By the 1970s that had changed considerably. Major popular movements had developed... In the 1980s there was an even greater expansion to the solidarity movements, which is something very new and important in the history of at least American, and maybe even world dissidence. These were movements that not only protested but actually involved themselves, often intimately, in the lives of suffering people elsewhere. They learned a great deal from it and had quite a civilizing effect on mainstream America. Scepticism about power has grown, and attitudes have changed on many, many issues. It's kind of slow, maybe even glacial, but perceptible and important. Whether it's fast enough to make a significant difference in what happens in the world is another question... Organization has its effects. It means that you discover that you're not alone. Others have the same thoughts that you do. You can reinforce your thoughts and learn more about what you think and believe. These are very informal movements, not like membership organizations, just a mood that involves interactions among people. It has a very noticeable effect. That's the danger of democracy: If organizations can develop, if people are no longer just glued to the tube, you may have all these funny thoughts arising in their heads, sickly inhibitions against the use of military force. That has to be overcome, but it hasn't been overcome.



Parade of Enemies

...There is a very characteristic development going on in the U.S. now. It's not the first country in the world that's done this. There are growing domestic social and economic problems, in fact, maybe catastrophes. Nobody in power has any intention of doing anything about them. If you look at the domestic programs of the administrations of the last ten years I include here the democratic opposition there's really no serious proposal about what to do about the severe problems of health, education, homelessness, joblessness, crime, soaring criminal population, jails, deterioration in the inner cities the whole raft of problems. You all know about them and they're all getting worse... In such circumstances you've got to divert the bewildered herd, because if they start noticing this they may not like it, since they're the ones suffering from it.

Over the last ten years, every year or two, some major monster is constructed that we have to defend ourselves against.

Just having them watch the Superbowl and the sitcoms may not be enough. You have to whip them up into fear of enemies. In the 1930s Hitler whipped them into fear of the Jews and Gypsies. You had to crush them to defend yourselves. We have our ways, too. There used to be one that was always available: The Russians. But they're losing their attractiveness as an enemy, and it's getting harder and harder to use that one, so some new ones have to be conjured up... So it was international terrorists and narcotic traffickers and crazed Arabs and Saddam Hussein, the new Hitler, is going to conquer the world.

HEY BOB! ACCORDING TO THIS NEW POLL, NINETY-THREE PERCENT OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE BELIEVE THAT POLLS HAVE NO STATISTICAL VALIDITY WHATSOEVER!
WELL, GOSH-- IF THAT'S WHAT EVERYONE THINKS, THEN IT MUST BE TRUE!

They've got to keep coming up, one after another. You frighten the population, terrorize them, intimidate them so that they're too afraid to travel and cower in fear. Then you have a magnificent victory over Grenada, Panama, or some other defenceless Third World army that you can pulverize before you ever bother to look at them which is just what happened. That gives relief. We were saved at the last minute. That's one of the ways in which you can keep the bewildered herd from paying attention to what's really going on around them, keep them diverted and controlled...

Selective Perception

...(In May of 1987,) the surviving members of the Human Rights Group of El Salvador the leaders had been killed were arrested and tortured, including Herbert Anaya, who was the director. They were sent to a prison La Esperanza (hope) Prison. While they were in prison they continued their human rights work. They were lawyers, they continued taking affidavits. There were 432 prisoners in that prison. They got signed affidavits from 430 of them in which they described, under oath, the torture that they had received: Electrical torture and other atrocities, including, in one case, torture by a North American U.S. major in uniform, who is described in some detail. This is an unusually explicit and comprehensive testimony, probably unique in its detail about what's going on in a torture chamber. This 160 page report of the prisoners' sworn testimony was sneaked out of prison, along with a videotape which was taken showing people testifying in prison about their torture. It was distributed by the Marin County Interfaith Task Force. THE NATIONAL PRESS REFUSED TO COVER IT. THE TV STATIONS REFUSED TO RUN IT.

There was an article in the local Marin County Newspaper, the "San Francisco Examiner", and I think that's all. No one else would touch it. This was a time when there were more than a few "lightheaded and cold blooded Western intellectuals" who were singing the praises of Jose Napoleon Duarte and of Ronald Reagan. Anaya was not the subject of any tributes. He didn't get on Human Rights Day. He wasn't appointed to anything. He was released in a prisoner exchange and then assassinated, apparently by the U.S. backed security forces. Very little information about that ever appeared. The media never asked whether exposure of the atrocities instead of sitting on them and silencing them might have saved his life.

...In February, right in the middle of the bombing campaign, the government of Lebanon requested Israel to observe U.N. Security Resolution 425, which called on it to withdraw immediately and unconditionally from Lebanon. That resolution dates from March 1978. There have since been two subsequent resolutions calling for immediate and unconditional withdrawal of Israel from Lebanon. Of course it doesn't observe them because the U.S. backs it in maintaining that occupation. Meanwhile southern Lebanon is terrorized. There are big torture chambers with horrifying things going on. It's used as a base for attacking other parts of Lebanon. In the course of these thirteen years Lebanon was invaded, the city of Beirut was bombed, about 20,000 people were killed, about 80% of them civilians, hospitals were destroyed, and more terror, looting, and robbery was inflicted. All fine, the U.S. backed it. That's just one case.

You didn't see anything in the media about it or any discussion about whether Israel and the U.S. should observe U.N. Security Council Resolution 425 or any of the other resolutions... That's just one case. There are much worse ones.

The Indonesian invasion of East Timor knocked off about 200,000 people. They all look minor by that one. That was strongly backed by the U.S. and is still going on (ca. March 17, 1991) with major U.S. diplomatic and military support...

The Gulf War

That tells you how a well functioning propaganda system works. People can believe that when we use force against Iraq and Kuwait it's because we really observe the principle that illegal occupation and human rights abuses should be met by force. They don't see what it would mean if those principles were applied to U.S. behaviour. That's a success of propaganda of quite a spectacular type. Let's take the question of the reasons for the war. Reasons were offered for the war. The reasons are: Aggressors cannot be rewarded and aggression must be reversed by the quick resort to violence. That was the reason for the war.

There was basically no other reason advanced. Can that possibly be the reason for the war? Does the U.S. uphold those principles, that aggressors cannot be rewarded and that aggression must be reversed by a quick resort to violence?... Has the U.S. opposed its own aggression in Panama and insisted on bombing Washington to reverse it? When the South African occupation of Namibia was declared illegal in 1969, did the U.S. impose sanctions on food and medicine? Did it go to war? Did it bomb Capetown? No, it carried out twenty years of "quiet diplomacy." It wasn't very pretty during those twenty years. In the years of the Reagan/Bush administration alone, about a million and a half people were killed by South Africa just in the surrounding countries. Forget what was happening in South Africa and Namibia. Somehow that didn't sear our sensitive souls.

We continued with "quiet diplomacy" and ended up with ample reward for the aggressors. They were given the major port in Namibia and plenty of advantages that took into account their security concerns. Where is this principle that we uphold?... No reason was given for going to war. None. No reason was given for going to war that could not be refuted by a literate teenager in about two minutes. That again is the hallmark of a totalitarian culture. It's a very striking fact. ...The fact of the matter is, this (Iraq) was a Third World country with a peasant army. It is now being conceded that there was a ton of dis-information about the fortifications, the chemical weapons, etc. But did you find anybody who pointed it out? Virtually nobody. That's typical. Notice that this was done one year after exactly the same thing was done with Manuel Noriega. Manuel Noriega is a minor thug by comparison with George Bush's friend Saddam Hussein or George Bush's other friends in Beijing or George Bush himself, for that matter. In comparison with them, Manuel Noriega is a pretty minor thug. Bad, but not a world class thug of the kind we like. He was turned into a creature larger than life. He was going to destroy us, leading the narcotic traffickers.

We had to quickly move in and smash him, killing a couple hundred or maybe thousand people, restoring to power the tiny, maybe eight percent white oligarchy, and putting U.S. military officers in control at every level of the political system. We had to do all those things because, after all, we had to save ourselves or we were going to be destroyed by this monster. One year later the same thing was done by Saddam Hussein. Did anybody point it out? Did anybody point out what had happened or why? You'll have to look pretty far for that. Notice that this is not all that different from what the Creel Commission did in 1916-17, when within six months it had turned a pacifistic population into raving hysterics who wanted to destroy everything German to save ourselves from the Huns who were tearing the arms off Belgian babes. The techniques are maybe more sophisticated, with television and lots of money going into it, but it's pretty traditional.

It ought to frighten us, that we are so deeply totalitarian that we can be driven to war without any reason being given for it and without anybody noticing it or caring!

I think the issue, to come back to my original comment, is not simply disinformation and the Gulf crisis. The issue is much broader. It's whether we want to live in a free society or whether we want to live under what amounts to a form of selfimposed totalitarianism, with the bewildered herd marginalized, directed elsewhere, terrified, screaming patriotic slogans, fearing for their lives and admiring with awe the leader who saved them from destruction while the educated masses goosestep on command, repeat the slogans they're supposed to repeat, the society deteriorates at home, we end up serving as a mercenary enforcer state, hoping that others are going to pay us to smash up the world. Those are the choices. That's the choice that you have to face. The answer to those questions is very much in the hands of people exactly like 'you' and 'me'. #

Do you really believe that you know what goes on upon this planet? Several authors have maintained that occurrences on our earth are controlled and managed by just a few powerful people.

Jan van Helsing confronts the reader with the same claims, he shows the interactions of lodges and occultism with high finance and politics - without the customary allocation of guilt (Freemasons, Zionists, Satan). He addresses the roots of the problem - in the refreshing and unadulterated way of the young generation which dares to oppose this criminal system of control, power and manipulation!
